

MAYOR TRIES TO FURNISH RELIEFConfers With Civil Service Heads on Proposal to Set Aside Law*Wants Permission to Give Laborers Temporary Places on City Pay Roll

Mayor Perry D. Thompson is in Boston today in conference with the members of the state civil service commission in an endeavor to have the city furnish relief for the acute unemployment situation. The mayor hopes to obtain permission to have the civil service laws, insofar as they relate to laborers, temporarily set aside to permit of the placing of names of men much in need of work on the payroll. The mayor was in conference Saturday, over the telephone, with H. H. Edwards, director of the labor bureau of the civil service commission, in regard to conditions as they exist in Lowell at the present time. Through Mr. Edwards a conference at the state house at noon today with the full commission was arranged.

The mayor, it is understood, does not desire that authority be given for wholly setting aside the civil service laws. His intention is that it shall be made possible to give temporary employment for a few days each week to such men as may be in need of work to support their families. If the plan is carried out, the services of the men will be available for any kind of work that the city has for them to perform.

It is understood that, if the permission sought by the mayor is given, it will be the first time in the history of the city, and possibly of Massachusetts, that the state laws have been set aside for such a reason.

No let-up in the search for city jobs was apparent in city hall today. Groups of men were about the corridors during the day discussing their need of work, and telling of their difficulties in trying to find employment to support themselves and families.

TWO HELD FOR ASSAULT AND ROBBERY

Much of the mystery surrounding the hold-ups in Dracut has been cleared by the arrest and confession of Joseph P. Perry of Ferry Lane. He was arrested by Officer Lynch about 8 o'clock Friday night at the corner of Fort Hill avenue and Rogers street at the Rogers hall school, a few yards from where William O'Connell was held up earlier in the week. The news of his arrest and of the arrest of A. J. Trudel of Dalton street made shortly after 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon was not made public by the police until yesterday afternoon.

Perry and Trudel pleaded guilty when arraigned in court this morning charged with assault on Mrs. Blanchard, storekeeper of Dracut, and robbing her of $18. Judge Wright waived jurisdiction and ordered both under bonds of $5000 for superior court.

Perry broke down during the process of the "third degree," and admitted he was implicated in the hold-up of Mrs. William O'Connell in her store at Keefe square, Dracut, last Monday night.

He also gave information which led to the arrest Saturday afternoon of Trudel by Superintendent Welch, Capt. Brogan, Lieut. Maher and Sgt. Dwyer in a pool room in West Centralville. Patrolman Lynch, a superannuated, was detailed for special duty in front of the Rogers hall school on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. While patrolling his beat he came upon Perry coming out of Fort Hill avenue. His manner and appearance made the officer suspicious. The fellow at first gave the name of John Hoy and said he came from Boston. He was taken to the police station.

When he was taken to the station he gave the name of Timothy Roy and his address as Bunker Hill avenue and these changes made the police suspicious.

On Saturday morning after Perry had finally revealed his correct name he was brought into the inspector's office on three occasions and grilled. On the third time Lieut. Maher and Capt. Brogan gained information which gave them a clue for the second arrest. He then frankly confessed being one of the three who held up Mrs. Blanchard in her store last Monday night. Special officers were immediately put on the case and Trudel, aged 26, was taken in the afternoon.

In the Blanchard case two men entered the store while a third waited outside on guard. One held up Mrs. Blanchard at the point of a gun while another went to the counter and rifled the cash drawer. A third man was given and the robbers made good their escape, but Mrs. Blanchard gave the police a good description of them. The act was done so quietly that Mr. Blanchard, who was in side room off the store, did not hear of the incident until his wife staggered in to him weak from fright.

BILLERICA MAN'S LICENSE REVOKED

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 10.—The license of Charles E. Pettis of 12 Wilson street, North Billerica, permitting him to operate automobiles in this state, has been revoked by the commissioner of motor vehicles, as a result of the accident in which he was involved Oct. 9, and which resulted in the death of Francis Murphy of Lowell.

Registrar Goodwin has conducted a thorough investigation of all the circumstances leading up to the accident, and has decided that he cannot make a finding that it occurred without serious fault on the part of the operator of the car. For that reason he is obliged, under the law, to revoke the license.

THIRTY-SIX MEN TAKEN IN RAID ARE FINED

Thirty-six men were arrested in a gambling raid in Market street early Sunday morning and fined $5 each in police court today. They were charged with being present where gaming implements were found.

Officers Conney, Moore, P. Clark, Winn, Cossette, Liston, Conway, Barry and Riley raided a house in Market street shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday morning and took the 36 men without any trouble. All exits were guarded before they entered. Three trips back and forth to the police station were required before all the men were booked and released on bail. The police found a loaded revolver in a corner of the room where it had been dropped by one of the defendants.

Considerable difficulty was met in the settling of fines, the men at first refusing to pay and desiring to appeal. After considerable wrangling they were impressed with the fact that they would be locked up unless they paid or furnished surety on an appeal.

Several of them were locked in the cage and when they found that their next destination was a cell in the prisoners' ward they came across with their fines. The court warned them that it was their last time that they would get off with a fine and Deputy Supt. Downey recommended the minimum fine of $5.

DESCHANEL ELECTED TO FRENCH SENATE

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Elections to fill one-third of the seats in the French senate were held yesterday. Seven members of Premier Leger's cabinet were among the candidates. Of these Frederic Francois-Marsal, minister of finance, and Albert Sarraut, minister of colonies, were elected on the first ballot.

M. L'Hopiteau, minister of justice, and Jules Breton, minister of hygiene and health, were elected on the second ballot, while the election of M. Landry, minister of marine, and M. Lecomte, minister of public instruction, and M. Ricard, minister of agriculture, were still in doubt early this evening. M. Ricard is far behind in the race.

Prominent among the other candidates was Paul Deschanel, ex-president of the republic, who declared his retirement from political life some time ago because of ill-health. M. Deschanel barely escaped defeat yesterday, being elected by a major of only two votes on the first ballot.

FRICTION OVER MONEY TANGLEAttention Called to Penalty Named in Charter for Over-running Appropriations*Auditor Hennessy Denies There is Cash Available for Paying City Employees

There are numerous evidences of friction between different departments of the government in city hall as a result of the holding up of the pay of employees because of the overrunning of appropriations made for paying last year's bills.

Attention was called today by one city official to section 33 of the present municipal charter, which provides that "No officer of said city, except in case of extreme emergency involving the health or safety of the people or their property, shall expend, knowingly, in any fiscal year, any sum in excess of the appropriation therefor, duly made in accordance with law, and any officer who shall violate this provision shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

In Full Effect

This clause is in full effect today. If it should be invoked and enforced it is an open question as to what the consequences might be.

The pay of the employees of the fire, police, charity and health departments has not been held up. This is due to the fact that under the law the continued functioning of these departments is recognized as being necessary for the public peace and safety. It is permissible, therefore, for them to over-run their appropriations.

December 21 the municipal council passed a blanket order authorizing the payment of the bills of these departments. That at least lets Mayor Perry D. Thompson out from the prospect of having a temporary adding place in a widely known county institution located in East Cambridge, if indeed there is a possibility of any of the city fathers who have spent more money than had been allowed to them becoming guests of Sheriff Fairbairn.

Watchdog Not Pugnacious

City Auditor J. Joseph Hennessy is not likely to get any rats on the back from city employees, whose pay envelops have been held up, for his efforts to play the part of faithful watchdog of the treasury. It is being pointed out that a section of the city ordinances, adopted since the present charter became effective, seemingly makes it part of his duty to call to the attention of the municipal council the fact that it is evident to him that the overrunning of appropriations have been exceeded. It is claimed that he knows, for instance, that the street department pay roll was coming due, and that there was no money to meet it, and that he should have shared his information with the members of the council. If he had done so, it is claimed an appropriation could have been made so that the funds would have been forthcoming to pay off the men when their money was due.

Hennessy Takes Exceptions

Mr. Hennessy takes exceptions to a statement attributed to City Treasurer Fred H. Bourke that there is an abundance of money in the treasury to pay off the city employees, and that he is not sure why it should not be paid out except that the city auditor refuses to sign the warrants.

The auditor said today that he did not know how the treasurer had cash on hand to foot all the bills he was paid that he had, and that he was not sure why it should not be paid out except that the city auditor refuses to sign the warrants.

The principal business that will come before the municipal council at its meeting tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, it is expected, will be the straightening out of the financial tangle in which the city has become involved, and that action will be taken to make the cash available for the prompt payment of the workers who have a lien on the city treasury.

Charges U. S. State Department With Making Threats Against the Cuban GovernmentBREAK OFF PEACE NEGOTIATIONS*Lloyd George Refuses to Withdraw Troops From Ireland*Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork, Ire., Greeted by Crowds in New York

DUBLIN, Jan. 10.—If reports in official circles are to be credited, all negotiations looking to peace in Ireland have broken down. Specific information is lacking, but it is said that Premier Lloyd George has definitely refused to consider the Sinn Fein's proposal for the withdrawal of the home rule bill.

Officials here take a gloomy view of the situation. The increased activity recently on the part of the military and republicans in the martial law areas is considered as indicating an extension of guerrilla warfare.

O'Callaghan in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Daniel O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who entered the United States at Newport News, Jan. 4, arrived here yesterday and was greeted by crowds of "Irish republic" sympathizers.

Accompanying O'Callaghan was Peter MacSwiney, brother of Cork's late mayor, Harry Boland, secretary to Eamon de Valera, and Acting Mayor Gannon and Deputy Mayor Malone of Jersey City.

During the short trip from the station to his hotel, O'Callaghan's automobile was followed by a procession that waved Sinn Fein and American flags.

Crowds gathered before the hotel and O'Callaghan responded to the cheers, appearing on the balcony. He spoke of his trip from Cork, as a showman, expressed appreciation for the welcome accorded him, and said he probably would remain in America several months.

O'Callaghan said Ireland would not accept home rule.

"We don't want home rule, we want nothing but freedom," he declared.

Mr. Boland announced last night that the lord mayor would not appear for public speech-making until after he had testified in Washington before the commission of the committee of 109.

O'Callaghan, Boland said, would remain in New York several days, probably to discuss the situation.

Believe Airmen Drowned in Mississippi

TRUSTSVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 10.—George H. Simpson, captain, and Charles Fisher, pilot of a hydroplane making a trip from Dayton, Ohio, to Key West, Fla., are believed to have been drowned when the plane fell into the Mississippi river. The plane was leased by a film corporation for distribution purposes to Ohio and Mississippi river towns.

An hour after the plane passed over this town yesterday, negro farm laborers from a plantation came in with the story that there had been an explosion and that the blazing plane had fallen into the river from a height of about 500 feet. Captain Simpson's home was in Toronto and Fisher came from Dayton, Ohio. They left Dayton Thursday for a trip which was to have lasted three months, delivering films at various points between Dayton and Key West.

CHRISTMAS TREES FOR GREEK CHILDREN

There was a tumult of joy in children's circles in the Greek community yesterday. It centered around a big Christmas tree in Associate hall. All of the youngsters of the Community school in Worthen street were there to enjoy themselves. There were presents for everybody. Some of them were useful articles—such as caps, mittens, clothing and shoes. Others were toys calculated to relieve the hearts of kids. There was candy and other goodies, too, in abundance.

The children made merry around the tree. Among other things they spoke pieces and sang the Greek national anthem.

The good time was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Souzas and the teachers of the school, Messrs. P. Palombos and Palatinos. Christos Zlogos, president of the Greek community, was foremost in making arrangements for the entertainment. Harry Houptis, chairman of the school committee, was instrumental in getting the presents together, many of which were contributed by storekeepers.

A Christmas tree in the Worthen Street Baptist church brought rejoicing to another lot of kids Saturday afternoon. The celebration was for the children of the Greek mission connected with the church. The arrangements were in charge of Rev. and Mrs. Vaites, assisted by Miss Edith Cove and Miss Lettie McMaster.

BODY OF COLLINS BOY FOUND IN POND

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 10.—The mystery of the disappearance of James E. Collins, Jr., the 10-year-old hunter who has been missing since Dec. 13, was cleared up yesterday afternoon when his body was found under the ice of Turner pond by Arthur Corbett of 118 Nash road and Joseph Jablonski of 114 Nash road, boys who were searching along the shores of the pond.

The body was in 15 inches of water, about 300 feet northwest of the spot where, on Dec. 25, the boy's gun, mittens and belt were found.

When the body was removed through the ice from the pond there was no evidence of violence visible. An autopsy is to be performed today by Dr. Daniel P. O'Brien, medical examiner.

General Sherwood to Become Washington Correspondent

(N.E.A. Staff Special.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—When the term of General Isaac Sherwood of Toledo, O., expires as member of the house of representatives March 4, he will step at once into the ranks of active Washington newspaper correspondents.

Sherwood is the oldest member of any great legislative body in the world. He was 85 last August.

He came to congress March 4, 1874, when Uncle Joe Cannon also first entered.

"The difference between myself and Uncle Joe," Sherwood says, "is that he has spent most of the time since then in congress, I out of it."

Sherwood was first elected to congress as a republican. But he has served as a democratic member from Toledo for the last 14 years. He went down to defeat in the Harding landslide.

Despite his years, Sherwood is one of the keenest men in congress. He has a caustic pen, a live wit and an inexhaustible fund of reminiscences.

He will report Washington affairs for the Toledo News-Bea. Already he has applied for membership in the National Press club and the press gallery.

OBSERVED ANNIVERSARY

Fourth-Second Anniversary of First Primitive Methodist Church Observed Saturday Evening

The 42d anniversary of the First Primitive Methodist church was observed Saturday evening with the serving of an old English tea by the ladies of the church, the affair being attended by about 200 people. The tea was followed by a social hour.

At yesterday morning's service at the church, the pastor, Rev. W. W. Stath, preached "The Splendor of Christian Expansion," speaking in part as follows:

"The splendor of an expansion in faith should be considered by a for faith in the word of God is one of the greatest needs of the present day. The expansion of Christian ministry has splendors that many should observe for in this department there is great demand for growth. We are all stewards of the living God and we need to feel the responsibility and splendor in an enlargement of this stewardship. Expansion in the winning of souls is probably the most important thing for soul-winning is the most wonderful work in the universe. It is the highest paid job known among men. As a person gets down in the depths to win a soul, the higher he rises toward the throne. Heaven places a high estimate upon soul-winning. 'He that winneth souls is wise.' A church, through contraction, jealousy and selfishness, does not save souls. The great quest after souls is the unsurpassed quest of this life. The passion for them gave birth to our church and its early history reads like a romance. In closing I appeal to our church to expand in this direction."

GENERAL SHIELDS HERO

Lowell Man, Rescues Brother Officer From Savage Attack by Prisoner

(Special to The Sun)
 STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 10.—William H. Shields of Lowell, familiarly known as "General" Shields, was the hero Friday afternoon of a rescue act which would have done credit to the most imaginative movie scenario writer.

He rescued a brother officer from a savage attack made by Ovilla Desrocher, who is not unknown to Lowell police and citizens because of his escapades there which culminated in running away with a Lowell young woman.

Recently he was picked up by the Springfield police, in company with the young woman in question, and through the finger print system was identified. Word of his apprehension was transmitted to the state house, and an officer was sent to Springfield to lay before the court the information concerning him which the prison officials here had collected.

As a result of their disclosures he was sentenced to the hospital for the Criminal Insane at Bridgewater, and Friday morning Officer Jewett of the Springfield police department brought his man to Boston, en route for Bridgewater.

Leaving Boston on the 1.08 train for Bridgewater, the journey passed without incident until after the Braintree station had been passed. Then Desrocher expressed a desire to go to the toilet, and in accordance with the rules Jewett went with him.

As soon as the door closed behind them Desrocher made a savage attack upon the officer. Fortunately Shields, accompanying another prisoner, was sitting close to the door, and heard the commotion, accompanied by the sounds of breaking glass.

Shields did not know that the men who had entered the toilet were a fellow officer and a prisoner, but he realized that an assault was being committed. Turning his own prisoner over to another passenger, he kicked open the toilet door, and with billy in hand rushed in. He found Desrocher with his fingers about Jewett's throat, and he was slowly checking the officer into submission. The window had been kicked out, and it is not known whether Desrocher's intention was to throw the officer out, or merely to beat him into insensibility and then to jump out himself. But Shields rushed in, shouting "Throw up your hands or I'll split your head open," and Desrocher released his hold on Jewett. As his hands went into the air, Shields snapped the handcuffs on him.

When the men came out of the toilet, it was found that Jewett had suffered a severe bite on the right wrist, as well as a bad cut on the side of his face. He completed the journey to Bridgewater, where his wounds were dressed by the hospital physician. Shields has been officially commended by the commissioner of penal institutions for his prompt, intelligent and courageous action.

Prominent Business Man Expresses His Appreciation Over Toxo Treatment

"The reason that I'm telling you this is because of this little friend," said a prominent business man as he held up a little package. We smiled, for we were happy to see the thing he showed was a box of Toxo, the wonderful treatment for constipation and indigestion.

"As I was walking along the street the other day," continued the business man, "I had seven of my friends stop and remark how well I was looking. And every time I had to laugh to myself for the secret was the little Toxo treatment package in my pocket."

"When I recall how wretched I was and the misery I went through, all due to constipation and stomach trouble, I really believe that it's a horrible dream. I was all run down and tired out. My face was pale and I felt nervous and haggard. My bowels were out of order and my breath was so bad I feared to go near any of my friends."

"I had terrible headaches and felt sharp, hot pains in my stomach and chest and it seemed as if I had suffered for years until I commenced using Toxo. It wasn't but a short time later that I was myself again, my bowels were working in good shape and everywhere I went people spoke of how well I looked. I've made up my mind to tell the secret to all my friends so that they may enjoy the wonders of Toxo treatment—whether it be for constipation, indigestion or other stomach ills or liver."

"Toxo as a treatment for constipation or indigestion—as well as any stomach trouble, has done wonders ever since it has been offered to the public. It is personally well prepared only for the personal use of thousands of doctors all over the country. You now need no prescription to buy it. Simply get it at Dow's drug stores on Merrimack street by asking for Toxo. It is pleasant to take and mild in action. Keep it in the house at all times.—Adv.

PLAYGROUND ACTIVITIES

Planned By Community Service—Greater Opportunity for Children to Play

To furnish the children of Lowell with larger opportunities for play is the purpose of a recently organized committee of representative citizens that has been brought together to carry out an extensive program of playground activities planned by the Lowell Community Service.

"The opening of the street playgrounds by the chamber of commerce last summer," says Clarence J. Weed, secretary of the committee, brought many protests from the residents on one of the streets occupied and the proposal to utilize a part of Fort Hill for tennis courts brought one of the most important group of citizens that ever appeared at city hall. The park commission has for years past had the experience of attempting to locate a playground in a certain locality only to have the neighborhood residents object strenuously. Yet it is obvious that playgrounds must be provided and it is highly desirable that groups of representative citizens from all parts of the city should make a study of the subject and guide public sentiment in such a way that these play spaces may be provided in all sections with as few objectionable features as possible. This new committee acting in co-operation with the committee on parks and playgrounds of the chamber of commerce and the members of the park commission should be able to help solve many difficult problems.

"There are three definite projects which have long been agitated and which are apparently held in abeyance at present through the lack of public interest. These are the First street oval, which should become the great playground of the central part of the city, the Washington park playground, which should become the open space for the lower Highlands, and the much needed playground for the upper Highlands.

"There is a need, also, which has been too little realized, for numerous open spaces, especially in the congested parts of the city, where younger children may play and be kept off the streets. It is highly important that the annual slaughter and maiming of children playing upon the streets should cease."

The personnel of the committee consists of: William A. Mitchell, honorary chairman; P. P. Sullivan, chairman; Mrs. Alfred Armstrong, Albert Bergeron, Abel R. Campbell, Walter I. Chase, Miss Blanche A. Cheney, Thomas E. Harrington, Herford Elliot, Mrs. Leonard Huntress, Mrs. Walter Jessup, Louis E. MacBrayne, George S. Mosley, James E. O'Donnell, Benjamin F. Potzner, Robert T. Thompson, Frederick R. Woodward.

Y. M. C. A. MEN'S MEETING

A feature of the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium was a concert by the Lotus quartet of Boston. This quartet is composed of Robert Martin, leader and first tenor; William Hicks, second tenor; Raymond Nelson, baritone, and Frank Canfield, bass. Several good numbers were given and the singers were recalled several times. The meeting was presided over by General Secretary Howe and prayer was offered by Rev. J. F. Speel of Albany, N. Y. while the scripture lesson was read by Rev. Fred Lake of this city. In the early part of the meeting there was singing by the attendance, led by H. E. Hockman, industrial secretary of the organization and there was an address by Dr. Ward Mosher of St. Paul's church.

CITY DEFIES COURT

Police on Guard as Detroit Workers Lay Track—Railway Head Kidnapped

DETROIT, Jan. 10.—Circuit Judge Harry J. Dingeman was expected today to decide whether Detroit city officials were in contempt of court following the crossing by the city yesterday of the Detroit United Railway tracks with tracks of the new municipal street railway after an injunction had been issued by the court forbidding such a step.

E. J. Burdick, assistant general manager of the Detroit United, called Judge Dingeman's attention to the matter and announced he would start suit against the city for false arrest, asserting he had been held a virtual prisoner on Belle Isle after he had made an ineffectual attempt to serve the injunction on city officials.

Guarded by 200 policemen, 100 city laborers were taken early yesterday to Mack and St. Jean avenues, where the work of crossing the Detroit United Railway line was begun. Burdick, who had obtained the injunction from Judge Dingeman Saturday, appeared and had begun to serve the injunction upon Joseph S. Goodwin, manager of the City Railway system when he was taken into custody by a policeman on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was placed in a patrol wagon and taken across the Belle Isle drawbridge to the island police station. After about an hour Burdick was released but he was unable to return to the city until after the work was completed because the drawbridge is not lowered for any except police traffic after midnight. The St. Jean avenue line of the new municipal street railway system has been one of the storm centers of the fight between the Detroit United and the city. In 1919, the company contracted with the city to build this line and began construction, but later was ordered to discontinue building by the city after the voters had approved of the municipal railway project.

Back Just Half a Century For
A New Style For the Year 1921

VIVIAN MARTYN ADAPTS NEW HAIR-DRESS TO MODERN NEEDS.

BY CORA MOORE.
New York's Fashion Authority.
NEW YORK—(Special by mail)—There's a new style of hair-dressing reminiscent of the coquettish "water-fall" of the 1870's.

Miss Vivian Martyn, pretty screen star of many a Goldwyn picture, originated it, and already it is being copied by so many of her admirers, that it bids fair to become a standard style for 1921. It is so adaptable to almost any type of face that I asked Miss Martyn her method of dressing it.

"First," she said, "I comb my hair out, but I must tell you my hair is not very even and is inclined to be curly rather than curly. So I make an asset of that."

Miss Martyn is a great believer in making the most of one's individual characteristics, rather than decrying them. For instance, the latest mode of hair-dress has favored the smooth and satiny head. Miss Martyn's hair is naturally light and fluffy. Consequently her first move is to disregard fashion's edicts.

"I begin," Miss Martyn directs, "by parting it through the center. Then I part it the other way down just in front of my ears, then still again crosswise just above my ears. This makes three sections of hair."

"Next I take the second section and arrange it across the back of my head, allowing it to fall as the picture shows, then I draw the first named section straight but not too tightly across, pinning at the back and allowing the ends to fall down with the rest. Finally I take the last section, which is smallest, and fashion it into little ringlets or coils and pin them securely at the top and back of my head, where they form a sort of top-piece for the down-hanging hair—and that is all."

"I am so glad you like it, this new way of hair-dress of mine, because I like it myself!"

left his car to throw out the signal light at the end of the double rail when two young men stepped up to him and while one of the pair pushed a pistol in front of his face the other stood alongside armed with a heavy wooden club.

The car was inward bound and was carrying no passengers and as there is no street light right at the spot, the robbers worked in comparative safety. The one with the pistol demanded Sheehan's money. The motorman gave him what change he had in his money vest and endeavored to plead for leniency by telling the robbers that he had eight children in his home who looked to him for support.

HASN'T SEEN HER LOOK SO WELL IN 10 YEARS

Lowell Man Says His Wife
Couldn't Walk Around a
Block Before She Got
Tanlac—Gains Weight—
Health Restored

"Not in ten years have I seen my wife looking so well or enjoying such good health as she does since taking Tanlac," was the unqualified statement made by E. B. Banlet, 4 Fifth street, Lowell, while at Greens Drug store a few days ago.

"Why, at the time she began taking the medicine she had suffered so long and was so weak and short of breath she couldn't hold out to walk around the block, but now she is as lively as a sixteen year old girl. There was scarcely a day during all this time that her stomach did not give her trouble. Nothing she ate agreed with her, and after every meal she just suffered agony. She complained of a heavy depressed feeling after eating, terrible cramping pains and a tightness through her chest which was so bad she could hardly get her breath."

Her nerves were in a terrible condition. Even the noise of the children playing about the house would upset her completely, and at times she just trembled like a leaf. Nights she just rolled and tossed most of the time, often becoming so nervous she would have to get out of bed and walk the floor for a time. Then, too, she had these smothering spells at night when grew the man with the club, "all we want is your money."

"I've given you all I have," said Sheehan.

"Where are your bills?" asked one of the men, and when the motorman hesitated, the one with the club said to his companion, "Give him a shot of lead and then we will get them fast enough."

At that Sheehan said the bills were in his right-hand trousers pocket and in a second the currency went the way of the silver. His watch was taken from his vest and he was then told to get back to his car and to "keep his mouth shut."

When speaking of the hold-up Sunday, Motorman Sheehan said that neither of the robbers wore a mask and that both were young and rather frail. He thinks he would be able to identify either of them should he see them again.

Sheehan's home is in St. James street, where he lives with his wife and eight children.

she had to be propped up in bed so she could get her breath. Mornings she got up completely tired out, and complained of feeling worn out all the time.

"She had awful pains in her back, said it felt about like toothache, and at times she was almost blind with headache. She often got so dizzy she couldn't stand up, and nearly all the time just any little exertion would bring these spells on her. At one time she took special treatment for her nerves and paid out a great deal of money, but this didn't do her as much good as her first bottle of Tanlac did. She has taken three bottles now and is eating just anything she wants, has a fine appetite, and nothing hurts her the least bit. She has gained considerably in weight, and all her strength and energy have come back to her. Since she finished her first bottle of Tanlac she hasn't complained of those pains in her back, and she never has a headache or dizzy spell. For the first time in her life she now drives a car, and can go all over town without getting the least bit nervous. She sleeps so soundly I have to call her several times every morning to wake her up, and the doctor says she feels better than she has years. We are both very thankful for what Tanlac has done for her, and are glad to do what we can to let others know about the medicine. If anyone wants personal information about my wife's case, she or I, either one, will be glad to tell them."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug company, Billerica, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

MOTOR INDUSTRY ASKS LOW TARIFF

Announcement from Washington that large American industries, once firm advocates of prohibitive tariffs, are now turning to a policy of free trade reaffirms the earlier reports that automobile manufacturers were seeking lower tariff schedules on American automobiles and new commercial treaty agreements with other countries.

In fact, action was taken on this matter as far back as last October, at a convention in New York of the export managers of the national chamber of commerce. At that time it was decided to bring the matter before congress, so that a reduction of schedules on imports may result in a more friendly attitude toward American shipping by other nations.

In spite of the high duties charged against American cars, our exports of cars and trucks have been constantly on the increase since the armistice. It is believed that the measures advocated will serve still further to promote foreign trade and thereby maintain stable business conditions. Export business cannot be expanded unless imports are likewise promoted, and it is the foreign market that the automobile and other industries are turning to.

Reciprocal commercial treaties, in place of a protective tariff, are what the industries are now seeking. According to Louis Demeratzky, tariff chief of the U. S. bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, "the more barriers that are removed and the more opportunity given for everyone to develop, the better it will be for our commercial relation."

"The exchange of favors need not necessarily be between the automobile industry of one country and the automobile industry of another, but nations who do not make cars could give a favorable tariff to American automobiles in return for consideration by us of some of the products which they export."

LITTLE USED CAR

If the automobile is to be used only occasionally during cold weather, say once a week, it would be best to drain the water from the radiator. The trouble occasioned in doing this is repaid by the saving of the costs of solutions to keep the cooling system from freezing.

The motor bus is in danger of losing its place on the country roads in England. People in the rural districts are making moves to abolish it on the grounds that it runs through quiet little villages, raising clouds of dust, frightening pedestrians and exciting the wrath of motorists.

Bertha Buhlinger is the proprietor of a successful roofing business in Dayton, O.

AUTO TALK

HEADLIGHT GLASSES

Many headlight diffusing glasses are designed for certain fixed positions. Vibration may loosen the lens, and cause it to creep around out of position. To keep the lens in its proper place, it should be fastened down with screws, held tight by lock washers.

A Frenchman has to plunk out 13,000 francs, if he wants to own a Ford car. The nearest any French car of equal make can come to this price is 15,500 francs. That's the price of the Citroen. Before Ford reduced the prices of his cars, his product cost 18,000 francs in France—$1050 at the present rate of exchange.

STICKING BUSHINGS

Blinding of the bushings that surround the push rods may be caused by the oil becoming gummy or by valve grinding grit that has got into the interior. If the aperture is closed with a cloth before the valves are ground the latter cause may be obviated.

All foreign cars belonging to temporary residents or tourists in France are taxed 50 francs a month. If a car is used in crossing and recrossing the border, there is a circulation tax of 4 francs every time the crossing is made.

HIGHWAY EDUCATION

Yale Professor Heads Bureau
on Road Transport

(N.E.A. Staff Special)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—C. T. Tilden, professor of engineering mechanics at Yale University, and one of the best known engineering educators in the United States, has been named director of the work of the highway transport education committee with headquarters here. He will take up his new duties at once and will proceed to formulate and to suggest a comprehensive program for courses in highway and highway transport education.

The new committee is the outgrowth of a conference on these subjects held in Washington last May at the call of the commissioner of education. Its work has been defined by the committee as the compilation of all data relating to the economic field of highway transport and the distribution thereof to all interested. As a phase of this, conferences are being held by the committee at different universities. The next will take place at Michigan, Feb. 23.

Prof. Tilden is the author of a number of technical and historical papers on engineering. He is a member of the American society of civil engineering and a fellow of the American association for the advancement of science.

SAD STORY OF IRELAND TO TENDER RECEPTION TO

REV. FR. GALLIGAN

Told on Canvas and in. Eloquent Address by E. S. McSweeney at Opera House

At the Opera House yesterday afternoon and evening a delightful entertainment of Irish song and story was given including moving pictures portraying events in Irish history for the last 100 years, an address dealing with these events by Hon. Edward S. McSweeney, together with a program of Irish songs by William K. Kelly of Boston and selections on the Irish pipes by Shaun O'Nolan of Boston. It was presented under the auspices of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church and the personal direction of Rev. Fr. Keenan. At both presentations the house was crowded.

The selections by Shaun O'Nolan, the Wicklow piper, were highly enjoyed, his "Believe Me" and the "Last Rose of Summer" eliciting much applause. Mr. Kelly's songs were all well rendered and his selections were among the most popular. He, too, won much applause.

The pictures had scenes showing the financing of the Irish republic, in which the widows and dependents of the Irish patriots were provided for. The historic scenes were quite familiar to those acquainted with the ancient ruins of Ireland.

The pictures shown under the caption of "Ireland a Nation" dealt with the rebellion of 1798, the act of Union, the selling out of the Irish parliament by the millions of England and then the Emmet rebellion. The pictures with their most realistic and affecting of all. The pictures showed the leaders in the subsequent rebellion of 1848 and 1847, the Farnell movement followed by that of Redmond, the rising in 1916 and the leaders of the Irish republic; the funeral cortege of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, the burning of Cork and reception to President de Valera.

Mr. McSweeney's Address

In explaining these scenes before they were presented, Hon. Edward S. McSweeney delivered an eloquent address in which he said:

So much injury has been done the Irish people, that is admitted even by its enemies that constant repetition of the old story is neither necessary nor wise but at the same time any proper discussion of the Irish question should begin at a period not later than the time of the struggle for independence can colonies for independence, because it was this contest which lighted the lamp of liberty for the whole world and has had particular and unceasing influence on the progress of the Irish cause for more than one hundred and forty years. Irish persecution peopled America. There are today in the United States, more than four times as many persons of unimpaired Irish blood as there is in Ireland. In addition a conquered Ireland is regarded as necessary by England for its control of the seas, and dominance over the trade of the world. For more than 12 decades England which had lost the United States, has never abandoned the hope and purpose to reconquer its lost colonies, or at least to make this country one of its subsidiary units, for this same purpose.

The speaker showed how England had conquered Portugal, Holland, France and lately, through the aid of other powers, her great rival, Germany. She never won a war without the aid of hired soldiers and colonial troops.

The signal for the awakening of Ireland from her restless sleep of slavery came from across the western ocean. "A voice from America," says a word, "shouted liberty," and every hill and valley of this rejoicing island answered "Liberty."

In spite of the fact that Grattan's parliament was but an imperfect instrument, and only represented a small minority of the Irish people, it was whipped into a tolerable working machine for the expression of the national will in progressive measures. Judges were made independent and Catholics were allowed to hold property.

The fearful scenes of the rebellion of 1798 were described and compared with those of the present day. Sir John More, apostle of the nationality of the British forces, said if he were an Irishman he would be a rebel.

With Ireland thus in a state of horror, confusion and despair, after the rebellion of 1798 Pitt determined to push through the project of destroying the Irish parliament once and for all. Not Ireland, but a bribed parliament, was to be asked to decide Ireland's fate, to consummate the "union of the shank with its prey." Corrupt as the Irish house of commons was, even it passed a unanimous resolution in 1799 by a majority of only one. Castlereagh and Clive bought the passions of many pocket boroughs with a promise of 2000 pounds apiece for 51 seats.

In describing the famine of 1847, the speaker said 800,000 died by the roadside and over a million were driven into exile as the only means of escaping starvation while the food and cattle that would have saved the people were shipped to England by the absentee landlords.

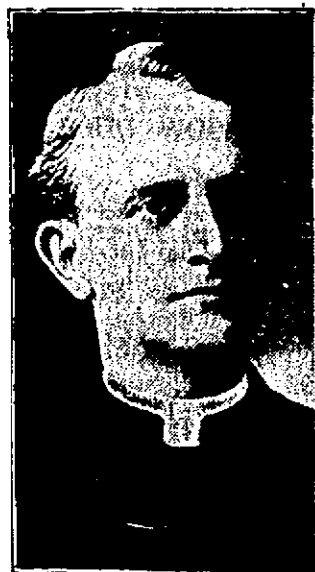

The various movements following the fearful famine period were described. The people followed physical force methods until these became hopeless, the last before that of 1916 being the Fenian raid of 1857. The parliamentary movement started by O'Connell ended with Redmond in 1911 when a home rule bill was placed on the statute book only to be held up at the protest of Sir Edward Carson.

Had not the Irish people been thus betrayed, Ireland would have followed Redmond's advice in the war and there would have been no trouble.

The 1916 Rebellion

With the uprising in 1916, the flames of Irish nationalism have been quickened anew on the altar of Ireland, and to keep them burning many men and women have made the offering of their lives, the most eminent of these being Terence McSwiney.

Of all the cruel generations since Strongbow, none exceeds in horror what is happening today in Ireland; yet the end may well be in sight. Irish independence is the real test of world peace and a slave Ireland means the inevitable breaking up of the British empire.

REV. CHARLES J. GALLIGAN

Mayor Perry D. Thompson has accepted an invitation to be present to extend official greetings to the popular pastor, while other speakers will also be present to express congratulations.

Fr. Galligan came to this city as pastor of St. Margaret's about ten years ago and during his stay he has endeavored himself to all with whom he has come in contact. He has also made much progress in the development of the Highland parish and has succeeded in completely wiping out a debt of $12,000. In addition he has purchased a tract of land for the erection of a school, which was ordained to the priesthood 25 years ago at Brighton, and was then assigned to St. Bernard's parish, Newton, Here he remained until his transfer to Lowell.

The formal exercises will open on Thursday night at 7.30 o'clock. In addition to the reception there will be a concert by local talent after which there will be general dancing.

PROBE ACTIVITIES OF LUMBER MEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—An extensive investigation into the activities of lumber manufacturers through their national and regional associations is being made by the department of justice with the assistance of the federal trade commission.

This is disclosed in a report sent today to congress by the commission in connection with the inquiry being conducted by the senate committee on housing and reconstruction. The report, the commission says, is designed to show the activities of the manufacturers and their attitude towards "national legislation, amendments to the existing laws, elimination of competitive woods, control of prices and production, restriction of re-forestation and other matters."

The report contains a mass of correspondence said to have passed between various officials of several of the regional and regional associations in being made by the department of justice with the assistance of the federal trade commission.

It is set out that the lumber manufacturers in the approximately 10 different lumber sections of the country have organized regional associations which have formed the National Lumber Manufacturers' association with headquarters at Chicago.

BISON MUST GO

Extermination on Antelope Island Decried

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 10.—Dispossession and death are decreed for the bison on Antelope Island in the Great Salt Lake. The acres of their native stronghold are to be reclaimed for the accommodation of domestic cattle.

Hunting to extermination of this historic and isolated herd of descendants of the one-time monarchs of the plains is to begin Tuesday. Sportsmen from over the country are planning to participate. Since the presence of the bison on the island units it as a range for cattle to which its 40,000 acres are to be converted by the Buffalo Island Stock Co., the bison must go. Removal of the herd has been found impracticable because of expense.

Accordingly the stock company which acquired property right to the bison in the terms of its lease of the island is planning to dispose of them to the sportsmen. For a consideration of $200, a hunter may secure the right to shoot, kill and dispose of one bison.

More even than the meat of the carcasses, the heads and robes of the animals will prove tempting to the sportsmen.

FIRE ALARMS GOT ALL MIXED UP

Wires in the electrical system of the local fire department got crossed early this morning and as a result no less than a half dozen alarms were sounded, sending members of the department to various sections of the city.

The first alarm was from box 50 and it was sounded at 12.54 o'clock. This was for a fire in a Morris chair at a house in A street. The firemen hurried to the scene and they had just reached there when an alarm sounded from box 219 at the corner of Middlesex and Thordillie streets. Then there was an alarm from box 13 at the corner of Dutton and Market streets and one from box 15 at Merrimack and Tremont streets, but there was no fire in either place.

Macartney's CLEARANCE SALE

It was announced through the newspapers of the United States last week, that clothing for next spring will be much cheaper. They quoted one of the largest manufacturer's prices. This manufacturer starts his line at $25.00 wholesale and charges $53.00 wholesale for fine worsted suits.

Do you realize, that to keep the wheels of industry turning, to have work, full time work for all, we have all got to do our bit? The mills, the manufacturers, the retailers, today are all trying to stimulate business, are doing their utmost to get prices down to a level where people will have faith and confidence. To restore America's faith in itself. Public opinion seems to be that every one is a profiteer, but himself.

Prices have been reduced today, so low that while next spring's suits open at $25.00, for well made clothing, we are selling ours at $24.50 retail and the fine worsteds that open at $53.00 may be bought for $44.50 now. Overcoats are on a like level. Overcoats that retailed from $70.00 to $90.00 are now $54.50. $60.00 and $65.00 Overcoats are now $44.50 and so on down to Overcoats for $17.50. Hats that cost $60.00 a dozen wholesale are retailing for $3.50. Shirts that cost $30.00 a dozen are marked $1.35 and so on throughout our whole establishment. I am not trying to give the impression that every article in our store is being sold at these big losses, but want you to realize, to know, that clothing as a whole has reached a lower level than it will be next spring.

Predict Victory for Gen. Smuts

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Victory for General Jan Christian Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, in the elections soon to be held there, is forecast in a newspaper despatch received here.

When the elections were held last March, fully 100,000 voters remained away from the polls, but the despatch declares the vote will be much heavier this time.

South African politics have been much involved during the last year, a movement for republican independence, led by General J. B. M. Hertzog, having given considerable concern. Labor also has entered into the situation there and Gen. Smuts has had a hard fight to weld discordant parties together in an effort to maintain peace.

A PEEP BEHIND THE SCENES

In its report of the recent meeting of the republican state committee, the Boston Herald says: "Never before in the history of the party has so much credit been given to the view."

It is not the way of the G. O. P.'s in this part of the world to exhibit their troubles in public. They didn't intend to this time, but somehow there was a glimpse of what was happening and thus a fukling of what is going on in Mr. Harding's party was obtained.

At the meeting in question, Frank B. Hall of Worcester, who has served the committee two years as chairman, was defeated for election for a third term, although it has been the custom to give his predecessors much longer periods in office.

When Mr. Hall discovered that he had been turned down to give place to a wealthy gentleman from Fitchburg, who has the reputation of having been a subservient camp-follower in the G. O. P. army and a liberal contributor of the sinews of war, which qualification for preferment holds a place at the top of the list in the republican category, he seems to have started in to spill the beans in a way that led his associates to speedily attempt to apply a gag. They did not succeed.

Mr. Hall proclaimed to the world that his party has fallen into the hands of the reactionaries. No one who has watched the course of events is likely to question that the former chairman told the truth. Mr. Harding's record as a statesman—or of his attempt to be counted as one—shows that he has never wandered far from the stand-pat camp. It was stand-pat, cash, and stand-pat influence that elected him. Since his election the old brigadiers of the predatory interests—not excluding Weeks, Penrose and their ilk—have been planning to climb once more into the saddle and rule things with the high and mighty hand that characterized their dominance before Theodore Roosevelt began to place obstacles in their way and thereby incurred their hatred to the extent that they were willing even to smash their party into smithereens to make it certain that he should not have another term in the presidency.

"When the gods would destroy, they first make mad." The reactionaries having taken the late republican victory as an indorsement of themselves, seemingly propose to go the full length of dominating the situation. "The war of their political battle front, both in state and nation, is to 'put none but stand-patters on guard.' They plainly propose to make their rule kaiser-like in its autocracy. Then their plan appears to be to crowd through a program of reactionary legislation that is being demanded by the big interests.

THE INSANITY PLEA

The insanity plea seems to be the favorite recourse in cases of unusually cruel murders for which there is no defense. Elwood B. Wade, who murdered George B. Nott at Ludgerton, puts in an insanity plea in defense of his deliberate slaughter of the man whose wife he had led astray. This plea is made in many cases in which the culprits instead of being insane are the worst type of criminals. In the case of Harry K. Thaw, his money saved him from the electric chair and while one class of alienists declared him insane, another held him to be sufficiently rational to know strictly what he was doing and, therefore, one who should be held responsible for his acts and subjected to the penalties of the law. He escaped on the ground that he was a paranoiac.

According to the alienists there is hardly a man in the country who is perfectly sane. If a man has a hobby he is insane; if he has a weakness due to lack of self-control or will-power, then he is suffering from a form of insanity, if we are to believe the alienists.

In England's treatment of some of the soldiers guilty of committing indefensible murders in Ireland, she has used the insanity plea as a means of saving the culprits and saving her face at the same time. For example, the cadet who a few weeks ago shot Canon Mauser, an aged priest, in cold blood, is declared insane. The cadet simply exercised the power placed in his hands with embarrassing indiscretion. The government could not not in justice punish him for killing the priest. He had full authority to kill any Irishman he met, with or without cause. Hence the government brings him to trial and declares that he was insane, although the only form of insanity from which he was suffering seemed to be the kind that affected many of the Black and Tans after looting some decent establishment. A similar case occurred in the rising of 1916 when a lieutenant took Sheriff Skeffington—a man who was opposed to the outbreak and who was arrested was trying to quell the disturbance—placed him against a wall and ribbed him with bullets. The lieutenant was declared insane, of course. Thus the insanity plea comes in very handy sometimes to cloak a miscarriage of justice.

DEFLATION CHANGES

William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and an able financier, is in favor of putting the brakes on the deflation movement so that the chances will not come too suddenly. He favors a more liberal policy in regard to granting credit as the means of checking the calamity of falling prices. The Federal Reserve and other banks can adopt such a policy without much danger.

The officials of these banks, however, claim that they have been granting credit quite freely except where it was to be used for speculative purposes. It is urged that banks having made large profits during the past few years might now extend loans on good security at a moderate rate of interest and for a period of time that would enable the borrowers to catch up with their now vanishing resources.

One vital necessity is an extension of the export trade. This would benefit everybody; but at this particular time, would be of special benefit to the farmers as nearly 50 per cent of our exports are of agricultural products. European nations want cotton, grain and other products which we have in abundance but they have no credit. If any plan such as that proposed at Geneva by the League of Nations for the consolidation of European credits, can be successfully carried out, it will offer the outlet for American goods which we need at the present time.

It is a fact, however, that owing to the great difference in the rate of exchange, the Europeans will purchase from other countries than the United States where they find their money or credit certificates will purchase more. The fact is that the other countries want cash for everything they have to sell and credit on what they have to buy.

THE HOLD-UP MEN

Our citizens at large should report all suspicious characters to the police in order that no itinerant criminals may find a resting place in this city. We have a fair share of law-breakers in our own community who must be taught a lesson in law observance; but it is very important that dangerous characters be prevented from coming in here. We must put a stop to hold-ups, several of which have occurred within the past few days. It is quite certain that these have been the work of amateurs and that they were by home talent so that the police should have little difficulty in capturing them. The police, it is but just to say, deserve praise for getting the men implicated in the recent hold-up so promptly. In a few days they will probably also have other marauders in custody. In order to clear the city of these characters, the citizens will have to help the police by notifying them of any disorderly or suspicious persons loitering around the parks, the depot or public streets. The police on the other hand will have to be on the alert. Some of them are half asleep and of very little use in running down criminals or offenders of any kind. Some of the pool rooms of the city are mere hatcheries of crime where idlers get together and plan ways of getting money by dishonest means. It is to be hoped that the police will keep a close watch upon the habits of these places as well as on the speak-easies, of which there is a considerable number in Lowell doing a quiet business.

Those who think they can inaugurate a wave of crime in Lowell will find that they have miscalculated. The citizens are already aroused and every man who wants to see the dangerous characters driven out or placed behind prison bars should constitute himself a civilian detective ready at all times to aid the police in running down men who are a menace to the community.

If the census committee's report is adopted, Massachusetts will gain two members of congress under the reapportionment bill. Then watch out for a battle on Beacon hill to determine the districts so that wicked democrats shall be kept from getting elected.

It is with some surprise that we read that the home of the Colonel Comfort club is in New England. The name would justify the conclusion that it might have some connection with the place where Mark Twain said he expected most of his departed friends were.

In the interests of fair play to the Grocers and Butchers and out of respect for the law, it is right that the Sunday stores should be compelled to comply with the law which forbids the sale of certain kinds of food on Sunday.

We are told that the Pennsylvania State college is to start a cookery school for men. It may come to it that it will be poor John who will shed tears because Mabel finds fault with his biscuits.

When the mayor said that men do not know how to vote, he probably did not mean to intimate that the X's that have been placed opposite his name on the ballots were an indication of the truth of his statement.

Charles Evans Hughes wants the supreme court to declare the corrupt practices act unconstitutional. The supreme tribunal of Mr. Hughes' party long ago decided it should be upheld.

The Kentucky tobacco growers plan to stop production because they cannot get the prices they want, bearing a striking resemblance to the small boy who says, "I won't play if I can't have my way."

Boston proposes to spend $200,000 in an advertising campaign. It might stress one of the things worth shouting about that it is a suburb of the world's biggest textile city—Lowell.

For the farmers of England it is a very bad waiting, away for the coming of March 1 and the giving of the word to "go over the top" for the officers.

The government does everything in a clumsy, awkward and belated manner, says the Boston Herald, and it may think that that is one way of promoting Americanization.

Some men think they are worst off if they do not rob their neighbors, because the guilt that will land them in jail.

SEEN AND HEARD

Business in some lines may fall down, but the holiday business holds up.

Mittlerand must be ticklish. He refuses to kiss any more whiskered Frenchmen.

Elizier says conditions have changed so that the coal man actually smiles when you drop in to order fuel.

Anti-British feeling is not necessarily indicated by the fact that Washington hotels are Dublin their rates for inauguration week. Which reminds us of the Irish whiskey joke that Ireland is the richest country in the world because her capital is always Dublin.

Legal Inquiry

"Now tell the jury," sternly demanded the young legal opinion, a threatening tone, addressing the cowering witness, "what was the weather, if any upon the afternoon in question?" Cincinnati Enquirer.

Worse Still

The worried countenance of the bridegroom disturbed the best man. Tiptoeing up the aisle, he whispered: "What's the matter, Jack? Has ye lost the ring?" "No," blurted out the unhappy Jack, "the ring's safe end. But, mon, I've lost ma enthusiasm." Ladies' Home Journal.

Same Old Discontent

Cap'n Bill Hamilton of schooner Phantom, who travels up and down the west coast, visited Lemon bay recently. Asked how things were going up Saratoga way he replied he had about the same as down here—all the fishermen say they are going to stop fishing and go trucking and all the truckers declare they're going to quit truck growing and go a-fishing."—Florida Fisherman.

Hindling in Change

In a certain young ladies school in New England there were two girls by the name of "Long." One, true to her name, was quite tall, while the other was much shorter. The taller girl was very popular with the young men; the other showed no tendency to be popular. This tempted some one to publish in the school paper the following paragraph: "Man wants but little here below, nor wants that little Long."—New York Sun.

Prisoner's Objection

"An amusing incident occurred in a trial I attended not long ago," wrote a visitor. "After the customary formula, anything to say before sentence is pronounced against you?" "Only one thing, your honor," said the convicted burglar. "The only thing I have objected to in this trial was being identified by a man who kept his head under the bedclothing the whole time I was in the room. It strikes me that is not right at all."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Human Weakness

If life were always bright and gay, we'd miss the discipline we need to make us strong to push away. Our troubles in this world of greed. Our strength of character is made by constant effort, strain and strife. Until we cease to be afraid. To grapple with the griefs of life.

And yet we cannot fail to see, how, and some times feel inclined to say, "How very lovely it would be, if life were always bright and gay!"—Somerville Journal.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

There will be, I expect, a bunch of old time Lowell railroad men in Boston Saturday night Jan. 21. At that time there is to be held in Ford hall a get-together of the veterans of the craft at which there will be something good to eat and a vaudeville show. The affair is to be under the auspices of the Veteran Railroad Men's association. What a lot of delightful reminiscences of days when conditions were very different from what they are now ought to be forthcoming. A third of a century has made a big difference in the railroad map of New England, and in the ways in which trains are operated. The gray-haired, middle-aged men of today remember when four railroad stations filled the place of the North station in Boston. The old Boston & Lowell station, at the southern end of the present structure, was not greatly different on the outside from what it is today. Located on Causeway street, near the Eastern station, it was a small brick structure with a tower and a waiting room in which a restaurant occupied most of the space. On the site of the present city hospital relief station, in Haymarket square, was the Boston & Maine depot. It was also of brick and was a long, rambling affair, that is principally remembered today, very likely, by many people as a place in which a janitor apparently seldom labored and as a place of smells and draughts. On Causeway street stood the tomb-like Fitchburg station much as it is today. When the present North station was built, the people of Boston made a great outcry against the architectural unimpressiveness and lack of adequacy of the edifice, and were told that it was only a temporary building that would give place to another in a few years. It is still in use.

The public is greatly indebted to Officer "Jack" Lynch of the local police department for catching one of the men, who it is believed, has been implicated in the hold-ups in this city. Through the arrest of this man, a second was made and a third may follow, thus clearing up much of the mystery surrounding at least one of the hold and daring acts of robbery recently reported.

Lynch has been on the local force as a supernumerary for four years, but it is thought that his good work in this case, in addition to the service he has rendered in the past, will soon bring him promotion to the regular force. The lot of a supernumerary is hard. He must be ready for any kind of duty at any time, and is not assured of any holiday or vacation. Night duty is just as likely as day duty in the life of the supernumerary and thus from one day to the next he does not know what his work will be.

Officer Lynch showed good judgment in detaining and questioning the man he found at the Rogers Hall school Friday evening. He showed remarkable intuition in reading the character of the young fellow. In many another case Perry would have been allowed to go on, but when he hurried out without a question, "I have no weapon," the officer's suspicion was strengthened. "As I hadn't asked him if he had any weapon," said Lynch, "I thought it strange that he should declare right away that he had no weapon."

ECZEMA 4 MONTHS CUTICURA HEALED

In Pimples On Face. Itched and Burned. Face Disfigured.

"Eczema started in pimples on my face. The pimples would break and they would itch and burn so that I scratched. I had very little sleep and my face was terribly disfigured. My head was so all eruptions and I couldn't comb my hair."

"The eczema lasted about four months when I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It began to stop the itching and burning so I purchased a cake of Soap and a box of Ointment and in three weeks the eczema was healed." (Signed) Mrs. John Stalker, Box 36, Hartsville, Mass., July 10, 1920.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

CHERBOURG, France, Jan. 10.—The United States transport Wheaton arrived here from New York today with 4300 caskets for the transportation home of American soldier dead.

Sharp and Galbraith Visit Harding

MARION, Ohio, Jan. 10.—With his resignation as a senator on the desk of the incoming governor of Ohio, President-elect Harding today was looking forward to six weeks as a private citizen before taking up the responsibilities of the presidency. Today another democrat, William G. Sharp of Ohio, was called into conference by Mr. Harding on the plan for an association of nations. Mr. Sharp is a former ambassador to France and from his contact with European statesmen, was in a position to tell the president-elect much about the state of official opinion abroad. Another caller was Col. F. W. Galbraith of Cincinnati, national commander of the American Legion. It was understood that the conference was for the purpose of discussing preparedness and soldier relief proposals.

Fight Entry of Non-Partisan League

SALINA, Kas., Jan. 10.—Lines were drawn sharply here today in the contest arising over the entry into Kansas of the non-partisan league movement. While A. C. Towhley, head of the league, was conducting mass meetings for those interested in the movement representatives of American Legion posts from all parts of the state, with others opposing the movement were laying plans for a state-wide organization to check the league's activities and bring about the departure from the state of those behind it.

How to Improve Trade Conditions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Better trade conditions between the United States and South America and the Far East cannot be expected until low rates of exchange and labor conditions in foreign countries have been improved, according to a summary of world business made public today by the department of commerce. In practically every country of South America and the Far East imports have fallen in the last few months and money has become hard to obtain. Australia is represented to be awaiting lower prices before buying much in the American markets and banks have raised money prices. This with the low rate of the pound exchange has brought about a virtual stagnation of the market.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton.

"THE CARVED BOX"

When Nancy and Nick crawled into the "igloo" or hut of Ishu the Eskimo, they could scarcely see at first, until their eyes became accustomed to the darkness. Ishu has no windows in their low ice-houses and very low doors and the only light they get is by burning whale-oil or seal-oil in flat dishes.

But they soon made out the figure of a man bending over a little moss fire and stirring a broth that smelled awfully good to their little noses. It must be the good Ishu himself, the one who had called so cheerily to them to come in.

"How do you do?" he said, stopping his stirring and turning to welcome his visitors. "What may your errand be and what do you call yourselves?"

"We're Nancy and Nick," answered the little boy. "We've just come from Santa Claus' house in the North Pole

Nick proudly, and he explained all about their Green Shoes, the charm that the Fairy Queen had given them and the golden key and the map.

"O, I see," smiled Ishu. "Those are very valuable things, children, but you may lose them. I have a carved box here that you may drop them into, if you wish, for safe keeping. I'll get it at once. And after that I'll give you each a bowl of this hot broth and you may take a nap in my warm bed."

"You're very kind," said Nancy, slipping off one shoe.

Little did she guess who Ishu was. (Copyright, 1921, N. E. A.)

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Franklyn Smith School of Stage Training, 45 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass., will open a Lowell Branch in the Middlesex Women's Club Hall, Saturday Afternoon, Jan. 15. Classes and private lessons will be held on Wednesday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons. Ballet, toe, stage, modern ball-room and exhibition dancing will be taught by expert teachers. For any information inquire at hall or write Mr. Edward A. McManis, assistant instructor, 37 Port Hill Ave., Lowell, Mass.

Other big feature on this unusual bill. It's the story of a gentleman, Brook who plans to steal the famous Brontë jewels, and in so doing schemes to use his smooth and polished ways on the charming daughter of the family to attain his ends. Ere he accomplishes his task he is overpowered by an influence that leads him to its will in a manner that is most interesting. See how it is done and why. It will entertain you immensely. The other features on the program will be a good comedy and variety and there will be no advance in the price.

OPERA HOUSE

The present week at the Opera House should prove one of the most interesting and entertaining as well as amusing and thrilling of the season, for it will make the first presentation in this city of "The Love of Su Shong," one of the newest and best of all the plays written by the mysterious Far East. DeWitt Newing wrote it and it is termed a big, forceful, gripping drama based on the love of a beautiful Chinese girl for a stalwart American who comes into her life. It is in a class with "East Is West," the big Boston stage success. The Lowell Players should score one of their biggest hits in it. The scenes are laid in China and the story is one that abounds in interesting and new phases of life. Su Shong is a little Chinese girl, beloved by many, but who can only give her love to one and to that one she gives unreservedly her heart and soul forever and ever. That the course of true love does not run smooth, is again proven, and the fact that all people, no matter of what race or creed, know it to be, only adds to the interest and thrill of this happy, sad, glad little romance of Su Shong, daughter of Tal Ling Chou. Those who miss "The Love of Su Shong" will regret it, for it is truly one of the genuine treats of the theatrical season.

Miss Fields and Mr. Byron will be seen in roles entirely apart from the regular run of stock portrayals. The former will portray a role that will rise to the occasion and give a perfect interpretation. Mr. Byron, we feel, will give an excellent account of himself as the young American officer, and the others will be found in congenial roles. Director Bennett will be afforded greater opportunity than ever before to indicate his artistic sense and capabilities in staging the piece, for it calls for the work of a real artist. Tickets for the opening performance indicate another capacity business for the week, so it is advisable to make application for tickets as early as possible. Tel. 261. Box office open daily, from 10 p. m. to 9 p. m.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Hobart Bosworth, the two listed plot of men, women and children, certainly adds new laurels to his reputation by his clever characterization of a real story of a man who sank to the brink of ruin, conquered shame and remorse and fought his way back to love, position and power. "The Invisible Divorce" is the other feature of the program featuring Beatrice Joy in a story of domestic entanglements. A comedy, the International News and Topics of the Day round out the bill.

live bill the Hiallo theatre offers to theatregoers this afternoon two big picture productions, Constance Talmadge in "Dangerous Business" and the new-entrance sensation, "Go and Get It," which had such successes here a few weeks ago. Both features have been heralded as one of the biggest programs of the season and are being offered forward with a great deal of delight by those who follow the "screen" game.

"Dangerous Business" is the story of a young girl who is lured into all the follies she met but who was finally forced into married life through an innocent compromise with a returned hero from France. The story is especially fitted to Miss Talmadge at the present time as she has just eloped with a rich tobacco grower of South America. The story will have the same appeal as it had on the hundreds here a few weeks ago when the "sold out" sign had to be posted on several times. This afternoon there will also be the Episode of "Hilde 13" and the Fox news.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

A feature that never flatters—never misses fire—is Ruth Royce, the queen of syncopation, who is coming to the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, with a bunch of character actors of the current vintage. Ruth Royce is the biggest "single" single woman in vaudeville. And by single is meant "one" entertainer. She has no assistants, no special scenery, no wealth of gem-filled gowns. She has red hair and a slender body and a mobile face, and a larger voice than her size would indicate. And then, she possesses the 99 per cent. of vaudeville drawing power—that spark of genius which makes her so popular. She is straight at you, in a way you cannot fail to understand. When Ruth Royce comes along, prepared to witness the highest character actor of the current season, or, the past three seasons—Lowell has always liked her, but always accorded her a flattering reception.

But the management, in no situation, frame of mind, has engaged a second feature, none other than the celebrated Talmadge, in a story of domestic entanglements. A comedy, the International News and Topics of the Day round out the bill.

Dr. Gagnon's Regular X-Ray Examinations of TEETH Necessary for Their Care and Your Health

"PRETTY TEETH BY PROPER CARE"

It is undoubtedly the greatest of all aids to accurate dental practice. It discloses the presence of blind abscesses and other focal infections at the roots of infected teeth. It shows clearly whether or not a tooth canal is properly filled. And that this is a most important item is proved by the fact that careful investigators now estimate that fully 70% of all root canals were perfectly filled before the X-ray came into general use.

THE absorption of poisons and toxins from these decaying areas of infection are an actual cause of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, gastric and intestinal irritations, ulcerations in various organs, diabetes, kidney disease, derangements of the heart and blood vessels, and increase susceptibility to tonsillitis, tuberculosis, anemia, and all wasting diseases.

THE Dental Section of a well-known life insurance company has recently presented some interesting figures illustrating the extent of these dangerous conditions. In an examination of 2437 teeth with dead pulps, they found 1404 which showed a putrefying condition in the tissues surrounding the roots, which decomposing products were absorbed day and night into the system of the owner of the teeth.

It is conceded by the best dental opinion of the day that unless these areas can be cleaned up, and the root canals of infected teeth properly sterilized and filled, such teeth are infinitely better out of the head than in. They should be removed, and their place filled by a serviceable piece of removable bridge-work, or some other safe and sane denture.

All dead teeth should be carefully watched by semi-annual X-Ray examinations for signs of recurring trouble. If these signs develop, the teeth should receive immediate attention, even if this should necessitate extraction.

OFFICER M'CANN GETS MAN WHO ESCAPED

All the satisfaction, consolation and quiet pleasure that comes to an officer by catching a man who once escaped from him was experienced by Court Officer Matthew M'Cann yesterday afternoon. He captured Earl McCallum in Tyngsboro after a long run through the woods. McCallum escaped from Officer M'Cann on July 16, 1920, by jumping through the window of a train that was going about 10 miles an hour. The jump-out just the other side of Winchester and despite the efforts of the police to apprehend him, has enjoyed his freedom ever since. McCallum was before the local court July 16 on a charge of neglecting a minor child, but when called he was put over for a week under bonds of $200. He was unable to furnish surety and consequently was committed to the house of correction in Cambridge, pending trial. Officer M'Cann was detailed to take three prisoners to Cambridge that afternoon. McCallum being one. When the train was approaching Winchester, the latter was granted permission to go to the toilet, two seats away from the officer. After waiting some time, Officer M'Cann asked a passenger to see what happened. McCallum said it was then he learned that he had jumped out of the window while the train was going about 10 miles an hour. McCallum has told the police that he landed on his face and hands and was unharmed and declares that God prevented him from being killed because he was innocent. He worked his way to Boston and shipped with a lumber company in Maine, but after being with them a short time he went to Portland where his wife joined him. He returned to Tyngsboro about four months ago and has been living since in an old shack in the woods. Officer M'Cann went out to Tyngsboro yesterday afternoon and walked a long distance from Johnson's corner to McCallum's shack. Here he found the wife caring for a second and recently born baby. The man was not to be seen and the wife would give no information. Leaving the wife, Mr. M'Cann was approaching a house occupied by an uncle of McCallum's a short distance away when he saw the latter standing in the doorway. Both recognized each other at the same time, and McCallum started for the woods. The officer is well known here as a former athlete and he was bound to give him a good run, but he was helped by his heavy clothes and overcoat. He was just about to throw off his coat when McCallum started short and ran. He was returned to the station and locked up last evening as an escaped prisoner. McCallum was arraigned in police court this morning and his case charged with neglect of a minor child was put over for a month with the agent of the local lumber society as surety. McCallum promised to support his wife and children.

OBSERVE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Surrounded by their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lorrain of 57 Puffer street, are today observing their golden wedding. The program of the day consisted of a high mass of thanksgiving at Notre Dame de Lourdes church this morning, followed by a dinner in the Sacred Heart hall in East Pine street and a reception this afternoon at the home of the couple for the immediate relatives. This evening Mr. and Mrs. Lorrain will entertain their friends at their home.

The party was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., and during the service a musical program was given by the choir under the direction of Miss Nella Lavigne, who also presided at the organ. The couple were attended by Dr. Joseph Lorrain of Montreal and Miss Julie Lorrain of New York, brother and sister, respectively, of Mr. Lorrain.

At the close of the mass the happy couple and members of their family repaired to the Sacred Heart hall, where a beautiful dinner was served, and while all were seated around the festive board a group photograph of the happy gathering was taken. Following the dinner most splendid exercises were held during which the couple were congratulated by Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I., and Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., both of Notre Dame de Lourdes church. They were also the recipients of a purse of gold and numerous other gifts.

Mr. Lorrain was born at Upton, Que., March 23, 1853, while Mrs. Lorrain, formerly Miss Mathilda Raymond, was born at St. Jean d'Iverville, Que., Sept. 4, 1851. The couple were married at St. Joseph's church, this city, Jan. 3, 1871, by the late Rev. Andre M. Garin, O.M.I. Twelve children were born to them, seven of whom are living, namely: George of Turner's Falls, Frederick, John and Joseph Lorrain of this city; Mrs. John Morgan of Portland, Me.; Mrs. Dionne St. Pierre and Mrs. Eugene Lajoie of this city. They also have 23 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Mr. Lorrain was a mason contractor for many years, but two years ago he retired.

Attending the festivities from out-of-town are Mr. and Mrs. George White and their daughter, Hazel of Springfield, Mrs. Sarah Dwyer of Fall River, Mr. and Mrs. George Hall of Lynn, Mrs. Regina Gaud of Williamstown, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. George Lorrain and family of Turner's Falls, and others. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Frazier of Worcester, who acted as witnesses at the wedding ceremony fifty years ago, were expected to be present at the festivities, but illness prevented them from coming. A message of congratulations and best wishes was received from them.

A touring car operated by William C. Dineen of Oliver street collided with an electric car in Merrimack square this morning. The automobile was slightly damaged. Because he had no restriction of operator's license in his possession in Dineen was taken to the police station. But later a check after an investigation by Sgt. Welch.

It was reported that the plant of the Barry Shoe company in Market street, which has been idle for over three weeks, is about to resume operations. One of the officials of the company said today that the plant may be started within a short time, but there is nothing definite as yet as to the date of the reopening of the shop. In normal times the company employs about 350 people. The Barry State Cotton Corp. in Broadway and Marginal street, which shut down January 4 will reopen Feb. 1, according to a statement issued at the office of the company today. It is not known whether the mill will operate full time or whether the full schedule of three days a week will be continued.

Cardinal O'Connell Appeals BOSTON, Jan. 10.—Cardinal O'Connell last night called for assistance for those facing the danger of starvation in Ireland to the end of that "spirit of the Irish people in the life and death struggle for their rights" might be sustained. His call was contained in a letter sent to a mass meeting of the Friends of Irish Freedom. It was read by Rev. F. J. Halloran of Wakefield. The cardinal wrote that he welcomed "earnest work for Ireland from every source." "Ireland needs the support of every one of her friends," he said. "Her present condition is so distressing and the odds against her so overwhelming that no influence which can help her should be neglected." "There are various groups in this country whose holy purpose is to help the people of Ireland to attain their rightful place among the nations. There may be legitimate divergence of opinion as to means and measures, but the spirit which should animate all should be the same." "There is a very urgent duty before all friends of Ireland at this moment."

Card. Gibbons Sits Up Again Today

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 10.—Cardinal Gibbons' condition was so favorable today that he was permitted to sit up again. Yesterday he spent about two hours propped up with pillows in a wheel chair.

Reports based upon the most accurate observations tell us of the distressing conditions existing in every part of the land. Many thousands are facing the danger of starvation; scores of thousands are in dire need. The cruel winter is upon them and we must come to their rescue.

Conference Broken Off LONDON, Jan. 9.—Conferences between the Rev. Michael O'Flanagan, acting president of the Sinn Fein and Premier Lloyd George with a view to bringing about peace in Ireland, have been broken off and will not be resumed, says the Daily Mail. BETTY AND HER BEAU

IN THE POLICE COURT

Defendant in Assault and Robbery Case Held in $1000—Other Cases

In police court today John Murray, alias Thomas P. Murray, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assaulting James Pappadimitropoulos and robbing him of $200 in a woodyard on Broadway on December 20. He was ordered to recognize in the sum of $1000 for appearance at trial on Jan. 15.

Murray was located in Boston on a warrant through the efforts of Lieut. David Petrie who has been working on the case. Another young man arrested shortly after the assault was committed, is now awaiting trial under the same charge under $1000 bonds.

Held for Grand Larceny

In a case charging larceny of various articles of women's clothing taken from the room of William Kelly in a lodging house in Middlesex st. Ralph Capotosto and Salvatore, the latter pleaded not guilty and Patrick O'Gudagno pleaded guilty to the charge. O'Gudagno was found not guilty and discharged while in the cases of the other two the court ordered them under $200 bonds each for the grand jury.

The loss of the goods was discovered by the mistress of the lodging house on Dec. 8 when she found the Kelly woman's room ransacked when she was visiting relatives in Waltham. The goods were found and the three men arrested on a warrant Saturday night by Lieut. Petrie in Capotosto's house in Beach st.

De Marco and O'Gudagno were roomers in the same house with the complainant. When times became hard, and there was no work and they were "flat," according to O'Gudagno, he and De Marco entered the Kelly woman's room and took the clothes with the intention of selling them in Lawrence. Up to this morning all three denied their guilt, but O'Gudagno broke down and confessed and on the stand implicated De Marco who still pleaded not guilty and with Capotosto had hired Capotosto and De Marco produced the key to enter the room and that they both ransacked it, taking what clothes they desired. He declared that Capotosto had no knowledge of the act and did not even know the goods were in his house. Without knowledge of the crime Capotosto, according to the testimony, had agreed to furnish lodging to the two friends, who brought with them a dress suit case containing the stolen goods.

Other Offenders
Edward Ducharme was found guilty of creating a disturbance in a local moving picture house yesterday afternoon and he has been placed on the on payment of costs of court.

The trouble started, it seems, in the gallery just at a very interesting and stirring point in the picture and threw the audience into great disorder.

James B. Regan of Boston, charged with the larceny of an overcoat valued at $25 from an unknown person, pleaded not guilty and was put over until tomorrow morning under bonds of $500.

Because Peter Kostakos, complainant, in an assault and battery case, withdrew his complaint and refused to prosecute, Theodore Monastouris was ordered discharged. The latter was charged with beating up Kostakos on January 7.

Antonio Russo, who was arraigned Saturday, charged with threatening to do bodily injury to his wife and found guilty, was given continuance for one month. He promised to use more consideration in the future and agreed to live with his wife.

day off, they chanced upon an Indian trapper, Tom Marks, who took them to his cabin, gave them food and then led them to Moose Factory. Below the map is a view of Moose Factory, showing also the desolate nature of the country.

After a rest, the balloonists set out by dog sleds, such as that shown in the upper right picture, across the frozen trail leading to Mattice and Cochrane, railroad towns shown on the map.

The arrival picture was taken by S. A. Bradbury, a clerk in the Hudson Bay company's post at Moose Factory, who was present when the Indian trapper led the exhausted men in.

Bradbury left Moose Factory, carrying the photograph, with the party of messengers that brought out the happy news of the rescue.

Farrell's Feet Frost Bitten
MATTICE, Ont., Jan. 10.—The three American naval balloonists today were still trekking slowly back to civilization from Moose Factory, where they landed on Dec. 11 after a perilous flight from Rockaway, N. Y. Absence of tidings from the balloonists caused no alarm to experienced trappers in this section. They said the Americans and their Indian guides were slowed up considerably by the fact that Lieut. Stephen A. Farrell, the eldest of the trio, had to be carried on sleds, as his feet were badly frost bitten.

The weather today was unusually mild for this season of the year. Some of the more optimistic watchers here believed that the almon would emerge from the wilds before nightfall, but others said it would not be surprising if it took a day or two longer.

According to general calculations by this tiny town's population and the small army of newspapermen and photographers, the long awaited party probably was 10 miles northward when they camped last night.

CHRISTMAS TREES FOR GREEK CHILDREN

There was a lamplight of joy in children's circles in the Greek community yesterday. It centered around a big Christmas tree in a school hall. All of the youngsters of the Community school in Worthen street were there to enjoy themselves. There were presents for everybody. Some of them were useful articles—such as caps, mittens, clothing and shoes. Others were toys calculated to rejoice the hearts of kids. There was candy and other goodies, too, in abundance.

The children made merry around the tree. Among other things they spoke verses and sang the Greek national anthem.

The good time was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Soultis and the teachers of the school, Messrs. P. Palmiras and P. Palatios. Christos Ziozios, president of the Greek community, was foremost in making arrangements for the entertainment. Harry Houplis, chairman of the school committee, was instrumental in getting the presents together, many of which were contributed by storekeepers.

A Christmas tree in the Worthen Street Baptist church brought rejoicing to another lot of kids Saturday afternoon. The celebration was for the

BODY OF COLLINS BOY FOUND IN POND

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 10.—The mystery of the disappearance of James M. Collins, Jr., the 16-year-old hunter who has been missing since Dec. 18, was cleared up yesterday afternoon when his body was found under the ice of Turners Pond by Arthur Corneale of 115 Nash road and Joseph Jablonski of 114 Nash road, boys who were searching along the shores of the pond.

The body was in 15 inches of water, about 200 feet northwest of the spot where, on Dec. 28, the boy's gun, mittens and belt were found.

When the body was removed through the ice from the pond there was no evidence of violence visible. An autopsy is to be performed today by Dr. Daniel P. O'Brien, medical examiner.

Rheumatism—Relief

From Its Dreadful Pains and Aches, Stiffness, Soreness

Is properly to be sought in a good blood medicine, because authorities say rheumatism is a blood disease; acid has entered the blood, settling in the muscles and joints. That's what makes the sharp, sudden, shot-like pains, causing you to jump and cringe in agony.

Hood's Sarsaparilla comprises remedies that every physician prescribes for rheumatism, combined with other blood-purifying, tonic and strength-building ingredients in a formula vastly superior in make-up and in curative power. It does give positive relief. Thousands say so. So will you. For a free leaflet take Hood's Pills.—Adv.

General Sherwood to Become Washington Correspondent

(N.E.A. Staff Special.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—When the term of General Sherwood of Toledo, O., expires as member of the house of representatives March 4, he will step at once into the ranks of active Washington newspaper correspondents.

Sherwood is the oldest member of any great legislative body in the world. He was 85 last August.

He came to congress March 4, 1834, when Uncle Joe Cannon also first entered.

"The difference between myself and Uncle Joe," Sherwood says, "is that he has spent most of the time since then in congress, I out of it."

Sherwood was first elected to congress as a republican. But he has served as a democratic member from Toledo for the last 14 years. He went down to defeat in the Harding landslide.

Despite his years, Sherwood is one of the keenest men in congress. He has a caustic pen, a live wit and an inexhaustible fund of reminiscences.

He will report Washington affairs for the Toledo News-Free. Already he has applied for membership in the National Press club and the press gallery.

OBSERVED ANNIVERSARY

Forty-second Anniversary of First Primitive Methodist Church Observed Saturday Evening

The 42nd anniversary of the First Primitive Methodist church was observed Saturday evening with the serving of an old English tea by the ladies of the church, the affair being attended by about 500 people. The tea was followed by a social hour.

At yesterday morning's service at the church, the pastor, Rev. N. W. Matthews, preached on "The Splendors of Christian Expansion," speaking in part as follows:

"The splendors of an expansion in faith should be considered by all, for faith in the word of God is one of the greatest needs of the present day. The expansion of Christian ministry has splendors that many should observe for if the department there is great demand for growth. We are all stewards of the living God and we need to feel the responsibility and splendor in an enlargement of this stewardship. Expansion in the winning of souls is probably the most important thing for soul-winning in the most wonderful work in the universe. It is the highest paid job known among men. As a person goes down in the depths to win a soul, the higher he rises toward the throne. Heaven places a high estimate upon soul-winning. 'He that winneth souls is wise.' A church, through contraction, jealousy and selfishness, does not give souls. The great quest after souls is the unsurpassed quest of this life. The passion for them gave birth to our church and its early history reads like a romance. In closing I appeal to our church to expand in this direction."

Attempt to Kill Two Officers in Dublin

DUBLIN, Jan. 10.—An attempt was made today to assassinate two officers who with the wife of one of them, were riding in a touring car in the outskirts of Dublin. The car was riddled with bullets, but the driver speeded up and escaped with his passengers. One of the officers was wounded. The identity of those in the case was not disclosed, but the car ultimately went to Dublin Castle.

Women Growing Taller and Heavier

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—Women are growing taller and heavier, according to Dr. R. Tait McKenzie, director of physical education at the University of Pennsylvania. "Statistics of women's colleges covering a period of 60 years show the average college girl of today is an inch taller and six or seven pounds heavier than the college girl of 1860," he said. He attributed this increase in stature and weight to the increased interest in sports and outdoor life.

GENERAL SHIELDS HERO

Lowell Man Rescues Brother Officer From Savage Attack by Prisoner

(Special to The Sun)
 STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 10.—William H. Shields of Lowell, familiarly known as "General" Shields, was the hero Friday afternoon of a rescue act which would have done credit to the most imaginative movie scenario writer.

He rescued a brother officer from a savage attack made by Orilla Desrocher, who is not unknown to Lowell police and citizens, because of his escapades there, which culminated in running away with a Lowell young woman.

Recently he was picked up by the Springfield police, in company with the young woman in question, and through the finger print system was identified. Word of his apprehension was transmitted to the state house, and an officer was sent to Springfield to lay before the court the information concerning him which the prison officials here had collected.

As a result of their disclosures he was sentenced to the Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Bridgewater, and Friday morning Officer Jewett of the Springfield police department brought his man to Boston, en route for Bridgewater.

Leaving Boston on the L. O. S. train for Bridgewater, the journey passed without incident until after the Framingham station had been passed. Then Desrocher expressed a desire to go to the toilet, and in accordance with the rules Jewett went with him.

As soon as the door closed behind them Desrocher made a savage attack upon the officer. Fortunately Shields, accompanying another prisoner, was sitting close to the door, and heard the commotion, accompanied by the sounds of breaking glass.

Shields did not know that the men who had entered the toilet were a fellow officer and a prisoner, but he realized that an assault was being committed. Turning his own prisoner over to another passenger, he kicked open the toilet door, and with billy in hand rushed in. He found Desrocher with his fingers about Jewett's throat, and he was slowly choking the officer into submission. The window had been kicked out, and it is not known whether Desrocher's intention was to throw the officer out, or merely to beat him into insensibility and then to jump out himself. But Shields rushed in, shouting, "Throw up your hands or I'll split your head open," and Desrocher released his hold on Jewett. As his hands went into the air, Shields snapped the handcuffs on him.

When the men came out of the toilet, it was found that Jewett had suffered a severe bite on the right wrist, as well as a bad cut on the side of his face. He completed the journey to Bridgewater, where his wounds were dressed by the hospital physician. Shields has been officially commended by the commissioner of penal institutions for his prompt, intelligent and courageous action.

Prominent Business Man Expresses His Appreciation Over Toxo Treatment

"The reason that I'm telling you this is because of this little friend," said a prominent business man as he held up a little package. We smiled, for we were happy to see the thing he displayed was a box of Toxo, the wonderful treatment for constipation and indigestion.

"As I was walking along the street the other day," continued the business man, "I had seven of my friends stop me and remark how well I was looking. And every time I had to laugh to myself for the secret was the little Toxo treatment package in my pocket. "When I recall how wretched I was and the misery I went through, all due to constipation and stomach trouble, I really believe that it's a horrible dream. I was all run down and tired out. My face was pale and I felt nervous and haggard. My bowels were out of order and my breath was so bad I feared to go near any of my friends."

I had terrible headaches and felt sharp, hot pains in my stomach and chest, and it seemed as if I had suffered for years until I commenced using Toxo. It wasn't but a short time later that I was myself again, my bowels were working in good shape and everywhere I went people spoke of how well I looked. I've made up my mind to tell the secret to all my friends so that they may enjoy the wonders of Toxo treatment—whether it be for constipation, indigestion or other stomach ills or liver."

Toxo as a treatment for constipation or indigestion—as well as any stomach trouble, has done wonders ever since it has been offered to the public. It is formerly was prepared only for the personal use of thousands of doctors all over the country. You now need no prescription to buy it. Simply get it at Dows Drug stores on Merrimack street by asking for Toxo. It is pleasant to take and mild in action. Keep it in the house at all times.—Adv.

PLAYGROUND ACTIVITIES

Planned By Community Service—Greater Opportunity for Children to Play

To furnish the children of Lowell with larger opportunities for play is the purpose of a recently organized committee of representative citizens that has been brought together to carry out an extensive program of playground activities planned by the Lowell Community service.

"The opening of the street playgrounds by the chamber of commerce last summer," says Clarence M. Weed, secretary of the committee, brought many protests from the residents on one of the streets occupied and the proposal to utilize a part of Fort Hill for tennis courts brought one of the most important groups of citizens that ever appeared at city hall. The park commission has for years past had the experience of attempting to locate a playground in a certain locality only to have the neighborhood residents object strenuously. Yet it is obvious that playgrounds must be provided and it is highly desirable that groups of representative citizens from all parts of the city should make a study of the subject and guide public sentiment in such a way that these play spaces may be provided in all sections with as few objectionable features as possible. This new committee acting in co-operation with the committee on parks and playgrounds of the chamber of commerce and the members of the park commission should be able to help solve many difficult problems.

"There are three definite projects which have long been agitated and which are apparently held in abeyance at present through the lack of public interest. These are the First street, oval, which should become the great playground of the central part of the city, the Washington park playground, which should become the open space for the lower Highlands, and the much needed playground for the upper Highlands.

"There is a need, also, which has been too little realized, for numerous open spaces, especially in the congested parts of the city, where younger children may play and be kept off the streets. It is highly important that the annual slaughter and maiming of children playing upon the streets should cease."

The personnel of the committee consists of: William A. Mitchell, honorary chairman; P. E. Sullivan, chairman; Mrs. Alfred Armstrong, Albert Bergeron, Alvin P. Campbell, Walter I. Chase, Miss Blanche A. Cheney, Thomas H. Delaney, Herford Elliot, Mrs. Leonard Huntress, Mrs. Walter Jessop, Louis E. MacBrayne, George S. Motley, James E. O'Donnell, Benjamin F. Pouzner, Robert W. Thomson, Frederick R. Woodward.

Y. M. C. A. MEN'S MEETING

A feature of the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium was a concert by the Lotus quartet of Boston. This quartet is composed of Robert Martin, leader and first tenor; William Hicks, second tenor; Raymond Nelson, baritone, and Frank Cannell, basso. Several good numbers were given and the singers were recalled several times. The meeting was presided over by General Secretary Howe and prayer was offered by Rev. J. E. Sweet of Albany, N. Y., while the scripture lesson was read by Rev. Fred Lake of this city. In the early part of the meeting there was singing by the attendance, led by H. E. Rockman, industrial secretary of the organization and there was an address by Dr. Ward Mosher of St. Paul's church.

CITY DEFIES COURT

Police on Guard as Detroit Workers Lay Track—Railway Head Kidnapped

DETROIT, Jan. 10.—Circuit Judge Harry J. Dingeman was expected today to decide whether Detroit city officials were in contempt of court following the crossing by the city yesterday of the Detroit United Railway tracks with tracks of the new municipal street railway after an injunction had been issued by the court forbidding such a step.

B. J. Burdick, assistant general manager of the Detroit United, called Judge Dingeman's attention to the matter and announced he would start suit against the city for false arrest, asserting he had been held a virtual prisoner on Hell Isle after he had made an ineffectual attempt to serve the injunction on city officials.

Guarded by 200 policemen, 100 city laymen were taken early yesterday to Mack and St. Jean avenues, where the work of crossing the Detroit United Railway line was begun. Burdick, who had obtained the injunction from Judge Dingeman Saturday, appeared and had begun to serve the injunction upon Joseph S. Goodwin, manager of the City Railway system when he was taken into custody by a policeman on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was placed in a patrol wagon and taken across the Bell Isle drawbridge to the island police station. After about an hour Burdick was released but he was unable to return to the city until after the work was completed because the drawbridge is not lowered for any except police traffic after midnight. The St. Jean avenue line of the new municipal street railway system, has been one of the storm centers of the fight between the Detroit United and the city. In 1919, the company contracted with the city to build this line and began construction, but later was ordered to discontinue building by the city after the voters had approved of the municipal railway project.

Back Just Half a Century For
A New Style For the Year 1921

VIVIAN MARTYN ADAPTS HER HAIR-DESS TO MODERN NEEDS.

BY CORA MOORE,
New York's Fashion Authority.
NEW YORK—(Special by mail)—
There's a new style of hair-dressing reminiscent of the coquettish "waterfall" of the 1870's.

Miss Vivian Martyn, pretty screen star of many a Broadway picture, originated it, and already it is being copied by so many of her admirers, that it bids fair to become a standard style for 1921. It is so adaptable to almost any type of face that I asked Miss Martyn her method of dressing it.

"First," she said, "I comb my hair out, but I must tell you my hair is not very even and is inclined to be crimping rather than curly. So I make an angel of that."

"Miss Martyn is a great believer in making the most of one's individual characteristics rather than 'deceiving' them. For instance, the latest mode of hair-dress has favored the smooth and satiny head. Miss Martyn's hair is naturally light and fluffy. Consequently her first move is to disregard fashion's edicts.

"I begin," Miss Martyn directs, "by parting it through the center. Then I part it the other way down just in front of my ears, then still again crosswise just above my ears. This make three sections of hair.

"Next I take the second section and arrange it across the back of my head, allowing it to fall as the picture shows,
then I draw the first named section straight but not too tightly across, pinning at the back and allowing the ends to fall down with the rest; finally I take the last section, which is small,
and fashion it into little ringlets or coils and pin them securely at the top and back of my head, where they form a sort of top-piece for the down-hanging hair—and that is all.

"I am so glad you like it, this new way of hair-dress of mine, because I like it myself!"

left his car to throw out the signal light at the end of the double rail when two young men stepped up to him and while one of the pair pushed a pistol in front of his face the other stood alongside armed with a heavy wooden club.

The car was inward bound and was carrying no passengers and as there is no street light right at the spot, the robbers worked in comparative safety.
The one with the pistol demanded Sheehan's money. The motorman gave him what change he had in his money vest and endeavored to plead for leniency by telling the robbers that he had eight children in his home who looked to him for support.

"To hell with your children," said the man with the club, "all
we want is your money."

"I've given you all I have," said
Sheehan.

"Where are your bills?" asked one
of the men, and when the motorman
hesitated, the one with the club said
to his companion, "Give him a shot of lead and then we will get them fast enough."

At that Sheehan said the bills were in his right-hand trousers pocket and in a second the currency went the way of the silver. His watch was taken from his vest and he was then told to get back to his car and to "keep his mouth shut."

When speaking of the hold-up Sunday, Motorman Sheehan said that neither of the robbers wore a mask and that both were young and rather frail.
He thinks he would be able to identify either of them should he see them again.

Sheehan's home is in St. James street, where he lives with his wife and eight children.

HASN'T SEEN HER LOOK SO WELL IN 10 YEARS

Lowell Man Says His Wife
Couldn't Walk Around a
Block Before She Got
Tanlac—Gains Weight—
Health Restored

"Not in ten years have I seen my wife looking so well or enjoying such good health as she does since taking Tanlac" was the unqualified statement made by P. H. Baulet, 4 Fifth street, Lowell, while at Greens Drug store a few days ago.

"Why, at the time she began taking the medicine she had suffered so long and was so weak and short of breath
she couldn't hold out to walk around the block, but now she is as lively as a sixteen year old girl. There was scarcely a day during all this time that her stomach did not give her trouble.
Nothing she ate agreed with her, and after every meal she just suffered agony. She complained of a heavy depressed feeling after eating, terrible cramping pains and a tightness through her chest which was so bad she could hardly get her breath.

"Her nerves were in a terrible condition. Even the noise of the children playing about the house would upset her completely, and at times she just trembled like a leaf. Nights she just rolled and tossed most of the time, often becoming so nervous she would have to get out of bed and walk the floor for a time. Then, too, she had those smothering spells at night when she had to be propped up in bed so she could get her breath. Mornings she got up completely tired out, and complained of feeling worn out all the time.

"She had awful pains in her back, said it felt about like toothache, and at times she was almost blind with headache. She often got so dizzy she couldn't stand up, and nearly all the time just any little excitement would bring these spells on her. At one time she took special treatment for her nerves and paid out a great deal of money, but this didn't do her as much good as her first bottle of Tanlac did.

"She has taken three bottles now and is eating just anything she wants,
has a fine appetite, and nothing hurts
her the least bit. She has gained considerably in weight, and her strength and energy have come back to her. Since she finished her first bottle of Tanlac
she hasn't complained of those pains in her back, and she never has a headache or dizzy spell. For the first time in her life she now drives a car, and can go all over town without getting the least bit nervous. She sleeps so soundly I have to call her several times every morning to wake her up, and she declares she feels better than she has in years. We are both very thankful for what Tanlac has done for her, and are glad to do what we can to let others know about the medicine. If anyone wants personal information about my wife's case, she or I, either one,
will be glad to tell them."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative,
by Wright Drug company, Billerica, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

grewed the man with the club, "all
we want is your money."

"I've given you all I have," said
Sheehan.

"Where are your bills?" asked one
of the men, and when the motorman
hesitated, the one with the club said

the American flag by boxers appearing in bouts in this state, is prohibited in a ruling announced today by the state boxing commission. The ruling was made at the request of the American League, who objected to the use of the national emblem as part of ring car-tunes. The commission also requested that boxers refrain from making religious signs in the ring.

WOOL SORTERS' UNION

In an endeavor to strengthen their organization and change their influence
among the textile workers of this city,
members of Local 5, Wool Sorters' union Saturday evening voted to affiliate with the United Textile Workers of America. This action was taken at a largely attended meeting of the local and after a spirited address had been delivered by Vice President McMahon

MOTOR INDUSTRY ASKS LOW TARIFF

Announcement from Washington that large American industries, once firm advocates of prohibitive tariffs, are now turning to a policy of free trade reaffirms the earlier reports that automobile manufacturers were seeking lower tariff schedules on American automobiles and new commercial treaty agreements with other countries.

In fact, action was taken on this matter as far back as last October, at a convention in New York of the export managers of the national chamber of commerce. At that time it was decided to bring the matter before congress, so that a reduction of schedules on imports may result in a more friendly attitude toward American shipping by other nations.

In spite of the high duties charged against American cars, our exports of cars and trucks have been constantly on the increase since the armistice. It is believed that the measures advocated will serve still further to promote foreign trade and thereby maintain stable business conditions. Export business cannot be expanded unless imports are likewise promoted, and it is the foreign market that the automobile and other industries are turning to.

Reciprocal commercial treaties, in place of a protective tariff, are what the industries are now seeking. According to Louis Demaretsky, tariff chief of the U. S. bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, "the more barriers that are removed and the more opportunity given for everyone to develop, the better it will be for our commercial relation."

"The exchange of favors need not necessarily be between the automobile industry of one country and the automobile industry of another, but nations who do not make cars could give a favorable tariff to American automobiles in return for consideration by us of some of the products which they export."

LITTLE USED CAR

If the automobile is to be used only occasionally during cold weather, say once a week, it would be best to drain the water from the radiator. The trouble occasioned in doing this is repaid by the saving of the costs of solutions to keep the cooling system from freezing.

The motor bus is in danger of losing its place on the country roads in England. People in the rural districts are making moves to abolish it on the grounds that it rears through quiet little villages, raising clouds of dust, frightening pedestrians and exciting the wrath of motorists.

Bertha Burlington is the proprietor of a successful roofing business in Dayton, O.

AUTO TALK

HEADLIGHT GLASSES

Many headlight diffusing glasses are designed for certain fixed positions. Vibration may loosen the lens and cause it to creep around out of position. To keep the lens in its proper place, it should be fastened down with screws, held tight by lock washers.

A Frenchman has to plunk out 13,000 francs, if he wants to own a Ford car. The nearest any French car of equal make can come to this price is 15,500 francs. That's the price of the Citroen. Before Ford reduced the prices of his cars, his product cost 18,000 francs in France—$1080 at the present rate of exchange.

STICKING BUSHINGS

Binding of the bushings that surround the push rods may be caused by the oil becoming gummy or by valve grinding grit that has got into the interior. If the aperture is closed with a cloth before the valves are ground the latter cause may be obviated.

All foreign cars belonging to temporary residents or tourists in France are taxed 60 francs a month. If a car is used in crossing and recrossing the border, there is a circulation tax of 3 francs every time the crossing is made.

Establishment of a new eastern factory for the manufacture of artificial pearls from fish scale essence, marks the beginning of a new American industry.

HIGHWAY EDUCATION

Yale Professor Heads Bureau on Road Transport

(N.E.A. Staff Special)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—C. T. Tilden, professor of engineering mechanics at Yale University, and one of the best known engineering educators in the United States, has been named director of the work of the highway transport education committee with headquarters here. He will take up his new duties at once and will proceed to formulate and to suggest a comprehensive program for courses in highway and highway transport education.

The new committee is the outgrowth of a conference on these subjects held in Washington last May at the call of the commissioner of education. Its work has been defined by the committee as the compilation of all data relating to the economic field of highway transport and the distribution thereof to all interested. As a phase of this, conferences are being held by the committee at different universities. The next will take place at Michigan, Feb. 23.

Prof. Tilden is the author of a number of technical and historical papers on engineering. He is a member of the American society of civil engineering and a fellow of the American association for the advancement of science.

MORE PAY FOR TEACHERS

Upon recommendation of Supt. of Schools Charles L. Randall, the Dracut school committee at a recent meeting voted increases for school teachers and principals. The new schedule is as follows: Grade teachers, $1200; principals of four-room buildings, $1300, and principal of Collinsville school, the only eight-room building, $1400.

SAD STORY OF IRELAND

Told on Canvas and in Eloquent Address by E. S. McSweeney at Opera House

At the Opera House yesterday afternoon and evening a delightful entertainment of Irish song and story was given including moving pictures portraying events in Irish history for the last 150 years, an address dealing with these events by Hon. Edward N. McSweeney, together with a program of Irish songs by William F. Kelly of Boston and selections on the Irish pipes by Shaun O'Nolan of Boston. It was presented under the auspices of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church and the personal direction of Rev. Fr. Keenan. At both presentations the house was crowded.

The selections by Shaun O'Nolan, the Wicklow piper, were highly enjoyed. His "Believe Me" and the "Last Rose of Summer" elicited much applause. Mr. Kelly's songs were all well rendered and his selections very among the most popular. He, too, won much applause.

The pictures had scenes showing the financing of the Irish republic. In which the widows and dependents of the Irish martyrs were provided for. The historic scenes were quite familiar to those acquainted with the ancient ruins of Ireland.

The pictures shown under the caption of "Ireland a Nation" dealt with the rebellion of 1798, the act of Union, the selling out of the Irish parliament by the misdeeds of England and then the Emmet rebellion. The pictures of Emmet's trial and his meetings with his sweetheart, Sarah Curran, were the most realistic and affecting of all. The pictures showed the leaders in the subsequent rebellion of 1848 and 1857, the Parnell movement followed by that of Redmond, the rising in 1916 and the leaders of the Irish republic; the funeral cortege of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, the burning of Cork and receptions to President de Valera.

Mr. McSweeney's address
In explaining these scenes before they were presented, Hon. Edward N. McSweeney delivered an eloquent address in which he said:

So much injury has been done the Irish people, that is admitted even by its enemies that constant repetition of the old story is neither necessary nor wise but at the same time any proper discussion of the Irish question should begin at a period not later than the time of the struggle of the American colonies for independence, because it was this contest which lighted the lamp of liberty for the whole world and has had a profound and unceasing influence on the progress of the Irish cause for more than one hundred and forty years. Irish persecution peopled America. There are today in the United States, more than four times as many persons of unmixt Irish blood as there is in Ireland. In addition a conquered Ireland is regarded as necessary to England for its control of the seas, and dominance over the trade of the world. For more than 13 decades England which had lost the United States, has never abandoned the hope and purpose to reconquer its lost colonies, or at least to make this country one of its subsidiary units, for this same purpose.

The speaker showed how England had conquered Portugal, Holland, France and Italy, through the aid of other powers, her great rival, Germany. She never won a war without the aid of hired soldiers and colonials.

The signal for the awakening of Ireland from her restless sleep of slavery came from across the western ocean. "Voice from America," says Flood, "shouted 'Liberty' and every hill and valley of this rejoicing island answered 'Liberty'."

In spite of the fact that Grattan's parliament was but an imperfect instrument, and only represented a small minority of the Irish people, it was whipped into a tolerable working machine for the expression of the national will in progressive measures. Judges were made independent and Catholics were allowed to hold property.

The fearful scenes of the rebellion of 1798 were described and compared with those of the present day. Sir John Moore appalled at the brutality of the British forces, said if he were an Irishman he would be a rebel.

With Ireland thus in a state of horror, confusion and despair, after the rebellion of 1798 Pitt determined to push through the project of destroying the Irish parliament once and for all. Not Ireland, but a bribed parliament, was to be asked to decide Ireland's fate, to consummate the "union of the shank with its prey." Corrupt as the Irish house of commons was, even it passed a unionist resolution in 1799 by a majority of only one. Castlereagh and Clarke bought the patrons of many pocket boroughs with a promise of 700 pounds apiece for 51 seats.

In describing the famine of 1847, the speaker said 500,000 died by the roadside and over a million were driven into exile as the only means of escaping starvation while the food and cattle that would have saved the people were shipped to England by the absentee landlords.

The various movements following the dreadful famine period were described. The people followed physical force methods until these became hopeless, the last before that of 1916 being the Fenian raid of 1867. The parliamentary movement started by O'Connell ended with Redmond in 1914 when a home rule bill was placed on the statute book only to be held up at the protest of Sir Edward Carson.

Had not the Irish people been thus betrayed, Ireland would have followed Redmond's advice in the war and there would have been no trouble.

The 1916 Rebellion
With the uprising in 1916, the flames of Irish nationalism have been quickened anew on the altar of Ireland, and to keep them burning many men and women have made the offering of their lives, the most eminent of these being Terence McSwiney.

Of all the cruel generations since Strongbow, none exceeds in horror what is happening today in Ireland; yet the end may well be in sight. Irish independence is the real test of world peace and a slave Ireland means the inevitable breaking up of the British empire.

TO TENDER RECEPTION TO

REV. FR. GALLIGAN

The members of St. Margaret's parish as well as friends throughout the city are to tender Rev. Charles J. Galligan, pastor of the church, a reception at Lincoln hall on Thursday evening in recognition of the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

A committee of members of the parish of which George M. Hurrigan is chairman and Rev. Stephen Murray, secretary and treasurer, has been working on plans for the reception for the past two weeks and today it was announced that everything is in readiness for the affair.

REV. CHARLES J. GALLIGAN

Mayor Perry D. Thompson has accepted an invitation to be present to extend official greetings to the popular pastor, while other speakers will also be present to express congratulations.

Fr. Galligan came to this city as pastor of St. Margaret's about ten years ago and during his stay he has endeared himself to all with whom he has come in contact. He has also made much progress in the development of the Highland parish and has succeeded in completely wiping out a debt of $12,000. In addition he has purchased a tract of land for the erection of a school. He was ordained to the priesthood 25 years ago at Brighton, and was then assigned to St. Bernard's parish, Boston. Here he remained until his transfer to Lowell.

The formal exercises will open on Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. In addition to the reception there will be a concert by local talent after which there will be general dancing.

PROBE ACTIVITIES OF LUMBER MEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—An extensive investigation into the activities of lumber manufacturers through their national and regional association is being made by the department of justice with assistance of the federal trade commission.

This is disclosed in a report sent today to congress by the commission in connection with the inquiry being conducted by the senate committee on housing and reconstruction. The report, the commission says, is designed to show the activities of the manufacturers and their attitude towards national legislation, amendments to the revenue laws, elimination of competitive woods, control of prices and production, restriction of re-forestation and other matters.

The report contains a mass of correspondence said to have passed between various officials of several of the regional associations relating to prices and many other subjects, but it contains no conclusions.

It is set out that the lumber manufacturers in the approximately 10 different lumber sections of the country have organized regional associations which have formed the National Lumber Manufacturers' association with headquarters at Chicago.

BISON MUST GO

Extermination on Antelope Island Decried

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 10.—Disposition and death are decreed for the bison on Antelope Island in the Great Salt Lake. The acres of their native stronghold are to be reclaimed for the accommodation of domestic cattle.

Hunting to extermination of this historic and isolated herd of descendants of the one-time monarchs of the plains is to begin Tuesday. Sportsmen from over the country, are planning to participate. Since the presence of the bison on the island limits it as a range for cattle to which its 40,000 acres are to be converted by the Buffalo Island Stock Co., the bison must go. Removal of the herd has been found impracticable because of expense.

Accordingly the stock company which acquired property right to the buffalo in the terms of its lease of the island is planning to dispose of them to the sportsmen. For a consideration of $200, a hunter may secure the right to shoot, kill and dispose of one buffalo.

More even than the meat of the carcasses, the heads and robes of the animals will prove tempting to the sportsmen.

FIRE ALARMS GOT ALL MIXED UP

Wires in the electrical system of the local fire department got crossed early this morning and as a result no less than a half dozen alarms were sounded, sending members of the department to various sections of the city.

The first alarm was from box 59 and it was sounded at 12:54 o'clock. This was for a fire in a Morris chair at a house in A street. The firemen hurried to the scene and they had just reached there when an alarm sounded from box 53 at the corner of Westford and Stevens streets. Another portion of the department rushed to that box and failing to find any fire, returned to headquarters. While the men were on their way back an alarm from box 52 at the corner of Lakeview avenue and Robert street was sounded. This was followed

CLEARANCE SALE

It was announced through the newspapers of the United States last week, that clothing for next spring will be much cheaper. They quoted one of the largest manufacturer's prices. This manufacturer starts his line at $25.00 wholesale and charges $53.00 wholesale for fine worsted suits.

Do you realize, that to keep the wheels of industry turning, to have work, full time work for all, we have all got to do our bit? The mills, the manufacturers, the retailers, today are all trying to stimulate business, are doing their utmost to get prices down to a level where people will have faith and confidence. To restore America's faith in itself. Public opinion seems to be that every one is a profiteer, but himself.

Prices have been reduced today, so low that while next spring's suits open at $25.00, for well made clothing, we are selling ours at $24.50 retail and the fine worsteds that open at $53.00 may be bought for $44.50 now. Overcoats are on a like level. Overcoats that retailed from $70.00 to $90.00 are now $54.50. $60.00 and $65.00 Overcoats are now $44.50 and so on down to Overcoats for $17.50. Hats that cost $60.00 a dozen wholesale are retailing for $3.50. Shirts that cost $30.00 a dozen are marked $1.35 and so on throughout our whole establishment. I am not trying to give the impression that every article in our store is being sold at these big losses, but want you to realize, to know, that clothing as a whole has reached a lower level than it will be next spring.

I ALSO REALIZE THAT SOME PEOPLE WILL READ THIS STATEMENT WHO ARE EXCEPTIONALLY WISE AND GIFTED, WHO WILL TAKE EXCEPTION TO PARTS OF IT. I'LL VERY GLADLY SHOW THEM WHY WE SHOULD ALL HAVE FAITH.

Predict Victory for Gen. Smuts

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Victory for General Jan Christian Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, in the elections soon to be held there, is forecast in a newspaper despatch received here. When the elections were held last March, fully 100,000 voters remained away from the polls, but the despatch declares the vote will be much heavier this time. South African politics have been much involved during the last year, a movement for republican independence, led by General J. B. M. Hertzog, having given considerable concern. Labor also has entered into the situation there and General Smuts has had a hard fight to weld discordant parties together in an effort to maintain peace.

A PEEP BEHIND THE SCENES

In its report of the recent meeting of the republican state committee, the Boston Herald says: "Never before in the history of the party has so much solidified been exposed to view."

It is not the way of the G. O. P. in this part of the world to exhibit their troubles in public. They didn't intend to this time, but somehow there was a glimpse of what was happening and thus an inkling of what is going on in Mr. Harding's party was obtained.

At the meeting in question, Frank B. Hall of Worcester, who has served the committee two years as chairman, was defeated for election for a third term, although it has been the custom to give his predecessors much longer periods in office.

When Mr. Hall discovered that he had been turned down to give place to a wealthy gentleman from Haverburg, who has the reputation of having been a subversive camp-follower in the G. O. P. army and a liberal contributor of the shrews of war, which qualification for preference holds a place at the top of the list in the republican category, he seems to have started in to split the beans in a way that led his associates to speedily attempt to apply a gag. They did not succeed.

Mr. Hall proclaimed to the world that his party has fallen into the hands of the reactionaries. No one who has watched the course of events is likely to question that the former chairman told the truth. Mr. Harding's record as a statesman—or of his attempt to be counted as one—shows that he has never wandered far from the stand-pat camp. It was stand-pat cash, and stand-pat influence that elected him. Since his election the old brigadiers of the predatory interests—not excluding Weeks, Penrose, and their ilk—have been planning to climb once more into the saddle and rule things with the high and mighty hand that characterized their dominance before Theodore Roosevelt began to place obstacles in their way and thereby incited their hatred to the extent that they were willing even to smash their party into smithereens to make it certain that he should not have another term in the presidency.

"Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad," the reactionaries having taken the late republican victory as an endorsement of themselves, seemingly propose to go the full length of dominating the situation. "The war cry of their political battle front, both in state and nation, is to 'put none but stand-patters on guard.' They plainly propose to make their rule kaiser-like in its autocracy. Then their plan appears to be to crowd through a program of reactionary legislation that is being demanded by the big interests."

THE INSANITY PLEA

The insanity plea seems to be the favorite recourse in cases of unusually cruel murders for which there is no defense. Elwood B. Wade, who murdered George B. Nott at Bridgeport, puts in an insanity plea in defense of his deliberate slaughter of the man whose wife he had led astray.

This plea is made in many cases in which the culprits instead of being insane are the worst type of criminals. In the case of Harry K. Thaw, his money saved him from the electric chair and while one class of alienists declared him insane, another held him to be sufficiently rational to know exactly what he was doing and, therefore, one who should be held responsible for his acts and subjected to the penalties of the law. He escaped on the ground that he was a paranoiac.

According to the alienists there is hardly a man in the country who is perfectly sane. If a man has a hobby he is insane; if he has a weakness due to lack of self-control or will-power, then he is suffering from a form of insanity; if we are to believe the alienists.

In England's treatment of some of the soldiers guilty of committing indefensible murders in Ireland, she has used the insanity plea as a means of saving the culprits and saving her face at the same time. For example, the cadet who a few weeks ago shot Canon Magnier, an aged priest, in cold blood, is declared insane. The cadet simply exercised the power placed in his hands with embarrassing indifference. The government could not not in justice punish him for killing the priest. He had full authority to kill any Irishman he met, with or without cause. Hence the government brings him to trial and declares that he was insane although the only form of insanity from which he was suffering seemed to be the kind that affected many of the Black and Tans after looting some liquor establishment. A similar case occurred in the rising of 1916 when a lieutenant took Sheehy Skeffington—a man who was opposed to the outbreak and who when arrested was trying to quell the disturbance—played him against a wall and ridged him with bullets. The lieutenant was declared insane, of course. Thus the insanity plea comes in very handy sometimes to cloak a miscarriage of justice.

DEFLATION CHANGES

William G. Meadows, former secretary of the treasury and an able financier, is in favor of putting the brakes on the deflation movement so that the changes will not come too suddenly. He favors a more liberal policy in regard to granting credit as the means of checking the catalysis of falling prices. The Federal Reserve and other banks can adjust such a policy without much difficulty.

The object of these banks, however, is to claim that they have been granting

SEEN AND HEARD

Business in some lines may fall down, but the holiday business holds up.

Mittlerand must be ticklish. He refuses to kiss any more whiskered Frenchmen.

Blair says conditions have changed so that the coal man actually smiles when you drop in to order fuel.

Anti-British feeling is not necessarily indicated by the fact that Washington hoteliers are publishing rates for inauguration week. Which reminds us of the no-whiskered joke that Ireland is the richest country in the world because her capital is always Dublin.

Legal Inquiry
"Now tell the jury," sternly demanded the young legal luminary in threatening tone, addressing the cowering witnesses, "what was the weather, if any upon the afternoon in question?"
—Chicagoan Enquirer.

Worse Still
The worried countenance of the bridegroom disturbed the stop dancing tipsing up the aisle, he whispered: "What's the matter, Jack? I see you just the ring?"
"No," blurted out the unhappy Jack, "the ring's safe end." But soon, I've lost my enthusiasm. —Ladies' Home Journal.

Same Old Discontent
Cap'n Bill Hamlin of schooner Phantom, who travels up and down the west coast, visited London Bay recently. Asked how things were going up Saratoga way he replied: "Ah, 'bout the same as down here—all the fishermen say they are going to stop fishing and go trucking and all the truckers declare they're going to quit truck growing and go a-fishing." —Florida Fisherman.

Hanging in Change
In a certain young ladies' school in New England there were two girls by the name of "Long." One, true to her name, was quite tall, while the other was much shorter. The taller girl was very popular with the young men; the other showed no tendency in that respect. This tempted some one to publish in the school paper the following paragraph: "Xian wants but little here below, our wants that little Long." —New York Sun.

Prisoner's Objection
"An amusing incident occurred in a trial I attended not long ago," says a lawyer. "Have you," demanded the judge, after the customary formula, "anything to say before sentence is pronounced against you?" "Only one thing," said the convicted burglar. "The only thing I have objected to in this trial was being identified by a man who kept his head under the bedclothes the whole time I was in the room. It strikes me that is not right at all." —Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Human Weakness
If life were always bright and gay, we'd miss the discipline we need. To make us strong, to push away, our troubles in this world of greed. Our strength of character is made by constant effort, strain and strife. Until we cease to be afraid. To grapple with the griefs of life.

And yet we cannot fail to see, As sometimes feel inclined to say, "How very lovely it would be, If life were always bright and gay!" —Somerville Journal.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

There will be, I expect, a bunch of old time Lowell railroad men in Boston Saturday night Jan. 23. That time there is to be held in Ford hall time together of the veterans of the craft at which there will be something good to eat and a vaudeville show. The affair is to be under the auspices of the Veterans Railroad Men's association. What a lot of delightful reminiscences of days when conditions were very different from what they are now ought to be forthcoming. A third of a century has made a big difference in the railroad map of New England, and in the ways in which trains are operated. The gray-haired, middle-aged men of today remember when four railroad stations filled the place of the North station in Boston. The old Boston & Lowell station, at the southern end of the present structure, was not greatly different from outside from what it is today. Next, on Causeway street, came the Eastern station. It was a small brick structure with a lower and a waiting room in which a restaurant occupied most of the space. On the site of the present city hospital relief station, in Haymarket square, was the Boston & Maine depot. It was also of brick and was a long, rambling affair, that is principally remembered today, very likely, by many people as a place in which a janitor apparently seldom labored and as a place of smells and draughts. On Causeway street stood the Lomb-Ork Pitchburg station much as it is today. When the present North station was built, the people of Boston made a great outcry against the architectural unimpressiveness and lack of adequacy of the edifice, and were told that it was only a temporary building that would give place to another in a few years. It is still in use.

The public is greatly indebted to Officer "Jack" Lynch of the local police department for catching one of the men, who it is believed, has been implicated in the hold-ups in this city. Through the arrest of this man, a second was made and a third may follow, thus clearing up much of the mystery surrounding at least one of the bold and daring acts of robbery recently reported.

Lynch has been on the local force for a superannuated for four years but it is thought that his good work in this case, in addition to the service he has rendered in the past, will soon bring him promotion to the regular force. The lot of a superannuated is hard. He must be ready for any kind of duty at any time, and is not assured of any holiday or vacation. Night duty is just as likely as day duty in the life of the superannuated and thus from one day to the next he does not know what his work will be.

Officer Lynch showed good judgment in detaining and questioning the man he found at the Rogers Hall school Friday evening. He showed remarkable intuition in reading the character of the young fellow. In many another case Perry would have been allowed to go on, but when he blurted out without a question, "I have no weapon," the officer's suspicion was strengthened. "You didn't ask him if he had any weapon," said Lynch. "I thought it strange that he should declare right away that he had no weapon."

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy, feeble feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "mopey" and "heavy." They "clean" the clogged brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 50c. —Adv.

Sharp and Galbraith Visit Harding

MARION, Ohio, Jan. 10.—With his resignation as a senator on the desk of the incoming governor of Ohio, President-elect Harding today was looking forward to six weeks as a private citizen before taking up the responsibilities of the presidency. Today another, democratic, William G. Sharp of Ohio, was called into conference by Mr. Harding on the plan for an association of nations. Mr. Sharp is a former ambassador to France and from his contact with European statesmen, was in a position to tell the president-elect much about the state of official opinion abroad. Another caller was Col. F. W. Galbraith of Cincinnati, national commander of the American Legion. It was understood that the conference was for the purpose of discussing preparedness and soldier relief proposals.

Fight Entry of Non-Partisan League

SALINA, Kas., Jan. 10.—Lines were drawn sharply here today in the contest arising over the entry into Kansas of the non-partisan league movement. While A. C. Townley, head of the league, was conducting mass meetings for those interested in the movement representatives of American Legion posts from all parts of the state, with others opposing the movement were laying plans for a state-wide organization to check the league's activities and bring about the departure from the state of those behind it.

How to Improve Trade Conditions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Better trade conditions between the United States and South America and the Far East cannot be expected until low rates of exchange and labor conditions in foreign countries have been improved, according to a summary of world business made public today by the department of commerce. In practically every country of South America and the Far East imports have fallen in the last few months and money has become hard to obtain. Australia is represented to be awaiting lower prices before buying much in the American markets, and banks have raised money prices. This with the low rate of the pound exchange has brought about a virtual stagnation of the market.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Burton

"THE CARVED BOX"

"When Nancy and Nick crawled into the 'Igloo' or hut of Ishu the Eskimo, they could scarcely see at first, until their eyes became accustomed to the darkness. Eskimos have no windows in their low ice-houses and very low doors and the only light they get is by burning white-oil or seal-oil in flat dishes.

But they soon made out the figure of a man bending over a little mess fire and stirring a broth that smelled awfully good to their little noses. It must be the good Ishu himself, the one who had called so cheerily to them to come in.

"How do you do?" he said, stopping his stirring and turning to welcome his visitors. "What may your errand be and what do you call yourselves?" "We're Nancy and Nick," answered the little boy. "We've just come from Santa Claus' house in the North Pole

Nick proudly, and he explained all about their Green Shoes, the charm that the Fairy Queen had given them and the golden key and the map.

"O, I see," smiled Ishu. "Those are very valuable things, children, but you may lose them. I have a carved box here that you may drop them into, if you wish, for safe keeping. I'll get it at once. And after that I'll give you each a bowl of this hot broth and you may take a nap in my warm bed."

"You're very kind," said Nancy, slipping off one shoe. Little did she guess who Ishu was. (Copyright, 1921, N. E. A.)

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Franklyn Smith School of Stage Training, 45 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass., will open a Lowell Branch in the Middlesex Women's Club Hall, Saturday Afternoon, Jan. 15. Classes and private lessons will be held on Wednesday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons. Ballet, toe, stage, modern ball-room and exhibition dancing will be taught by expert teachers. For any information inquire at hall or write Mr. Edward A. McManis, assistant instructor, 37 Fort Hill Ave., Lowell, Mass.

Other big feature on this unusual bill, it's the story of a gentleman crook who plans to steal the famous Brent jewels, and in so doing schemes to use his smooth and polished ways on the charming daughter of the family to attain his ends. Era he accomplishes his task he is overpowered by an influence that binds him to its will in a manner that is most interesting. See how it is done and why. It will entertain you immensely. The other feature of the program will be a good comedy and "Wee Wee" and there will be no advance in the prices.

OPERA HOUSE
The present week at the Opera House should prove one of the most interesting and entertaining as well as amusing and thrilling of the season, for it will make the first presentation in this city of "The Love of Su Shong," one of the most beautiful and dramatic plays ever written by the famous Far East. DeWitt Newing wrote it and it is termed a big, far-reaching, gripping drama dealing with the love of a beautiful Chinese girl for a rich American who comes into her life. It is in a class with "East Is West," the big Boston stage success. The Lowell Players should score one of their biggest hits in it. The scenes are laid in China and the story is one that abounds in interesting and new phases of life. Su Shong is a little Chinese girl, beloved by many, but who can only give her love to one and to that one she gives unreservedly her heart and soul forever and ever. That the course of true love does not run smooth, is again proven, and the fact that all people, no matter of what race or creed, know it to be, only adds to the interest and thrill of this happy, sad, glad little romance of Su Shong, daughter of Tai Ling Chon. Those who miss "The Love of Su Shong" will regret it, for it is truly one of the genuine treats of the theatrical season.

Miss Fields and Mr. Byron will be seen in roles entirely apart from the regular run of stock portrayals. The former will portray a role that will be new to her, and her performance will rise to the occasion and give a perfect interpretation. Mr. Byron, we feel, will give an excellent account of himself as the young American officer, and the others will be found in congenial roles. Director Bennett will be afforded greater opportunity than ever before to indicate his artistic sense and capabilities in staging the piece, for it calls for the work of a real artist. Tickets for the opening performance indicate another capacity business for the week, so it is advisable to make application for tickets as early as possible. Tel. 261. Box office open daily, from 10 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Two bill the Rialto theatre offers to theatregoers this afternoon two big picture productions, Constance Talmadge in "Dangerous Business" and the new-when sensation "Go and Get It," which had such successes here a few weeks ago. Both features have been heralded as one of the biggest programs of the season, and are being looked forward to with a great deal of interest by those who follow the "screen" game.

"Dangerous Business" is the story of a young, flirtatious girl who laughed at all the fellows who met her, but who was finally forced into married life through an innocent compromise with a rich tobacco grower of South America. "Go and Get It" will have the same appeal as it had on the hundred here a few weeks ago when the "sold out" sign had to be posted up several times. This afternoon there will also be Episode B of "Bride 13" and the Fox news.

Dr. Gagnon's Regular X-Ray Examinations of TEETH Necessary for Their Care and Your Health

"PRETTY TEETH BY PROPER CARE"

It is undoubtedly the greatest of all aids to accurate dental practice. It discloses the presence of blind abscesses and other focal infections at the roots of infected teeth. It shows clearly whether or not a tooth canal is properly filled. And that this is a most important item is proved by the fact that careful investigators now estimate that fully 70% of all root canals were perfectly filled before the X-ray came into general use.

The absorption of poisons and toxins from these decaying areas of infection are an actual cause of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, gastric and intestinal irritations, ulcerations in various organs, diabetes, kidney disease, derangements of the heart and blood vessels, and increase susceptibility to tonsillitis, tuberculosis, anemia, and all wasting diseases.

The Dental Section of a well-known life insurance company has recently presented some interesting figures illustrating the extent of these dangerous conditions. In an examination of 2437 teeth with dead pulps, they found 1404 which showed a putrefying condition in the tissues surrounding the roots, which decomposing products were absorbed day and night into the system of the owner of the teeth.

It is conceded by the best dental opinion of the day that unless these areas can be cleaned up, and the root canals of infected teeth properly sterilized and filled, such teeth are infinitely better out of the head than in. They should be removed, and their place filled by a serviceable piece of removable bridge-work, or some other safe and sane denture.

All dead teeth should be carefully watched by semi-annual X-Ray examinations for signs of recurring trouble. If these signs develop, the teeth should receive immediate attention, even if this should necessitate extraction.

OFFICER MCCANN GETS MAN WHO ESCAPED

All the satisfaction, consolation and quiet pleasure that comes to an officer by catching a man who once escaped from him was experienced by Court Officer Matthew McCann yesterday afternoon. He captured Earl McCallum in Tyngsboro after a long run through the woods. McCallum escaped from the woods. McCann on July 15, 1920, by jumping through about 40 miles an hour, he jumped out just the other side of Winchester and despite the efforts of the police to apprehend him, has enjoyed his freedom ever since. McCann was before the local court July 15 on a charge of neglecting a minor child, but when called he was put over for a week under bonds of $200. He was unable to furnish surety and consequently was committed to the house of correction in Cambridge, pending trial. Officer McCann was detailed to take three prisoners to Cambridge that afternoon. McCann being one. When the train was approaching Winchester, the later was granted permission to go to the toilet, two seats away from the officer. After waiting some time, Officer McCann asked a passenger to see what happened McCann and it was then he learned that he had jumped out of the window while the train was going about 40 miles an hour. McCann has told the police that he landed on his face and hands and was unharmed and declares that God prevented him from being killed because he was innocent. He worked his way to Boston and shipped with a lumber company in Maine, but after being with them a short time he went to Portland where his wife joined him. He returned to Tyngsboro about four months ago and has been living since in an old shack in the woods. Officer McCann went out to Tyngsboro yesterday afternoon and walked a long distance from Johnson's corner to McCann's shack. Here he found the wife caring for a second and recently born baby. The man was not to be seen and the wife would give no information. Leaving the shack, Mr. McCann was approaching a house occupied by an uncle of McCann's a short distance away when he saw the latter standing in the doorway. Both recognized each other at the same time, and McCann started for the woods. The officer is well known here as a former athlete and he was bound to give his man a good run, but he was impeded by his heavy clothes and overcoat. He was just about to throw off his overcoat when McCann stepped short and extricated. He was returned to the station and locked up last evening as an escaped prisoner. McCann was arraigned in police court this morning and his case charging neglect of a minor child was put over for one month with the agent of the local burglar society as surety. McCann promised to support his wife and children. It is an unwritten law that the president of the United States shall never ride on the left-hand side of his carriage.

OBSERVE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Surrounded by their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lorrain of 37 Puffer street, are today observing their golden wedding. The program of the day consisted of a high mass of thanksgiving at Notre Dame de Lourdes church this morning, followed by a dinner in the Sacred Heart hall in East Pine street and a reception this afternoon at the home of the couple for the immediate relatives. This evening Mr. and Mrs. Lorrain will entertain their friends at their home. The mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock by Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., and during the service a musical program was given by the choir under the direction of Miss Bella Lavigne. The couple also presided at the organ. The couple also attended by Dr. Joseph Lorrain, of Montreal and Miss Julie Lorrain of New York, brother and sister, respectively, of Mr. Lorrain. At the close of the mass the happy couple and members of their family repaired to the Sacred Heart hall, where a bountiful dinner was served, and while all were seated around the festive board a group photograph of the happy gathering was taken. Following the dinner post prandial exercises were held during which the couple were congratulated by Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I., and Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., both of Notre Dame de Lourdes church. MILL WILL REOPEN FEBRUARY FIRST

It was reported that the plant of the Barry Shoe company, in Market street, which has been idle for over three weeks, is about to resume operations. One of the officials of the company said today that the plant may be started within a short time, but there is nothing definite as yet as to the date of the reopening of the shop. In normal times the company employs about 350 people. The Barry State Cotton Corp., in Broadway and Marginal street, which shut down January 4 will reopen Feb. 1, according to a statement issued at the office of the company today. It is not known whether the mill will operate full time or whether the old schedule of three days a week will be continued. ARMED GUARD ON SHIP QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 10.—On the arrival here yesterday from New York of the American steamer Honolulu with a cargo of provisions for the relief of the unemployed in Cork, the authorities placed an armed guard on the vessel. Notwithstanding the protest of the captain the guard remained on the steamer when it proceeded for Cork. The supplies were sent by Irish relief committees in Philadelphia, New York and other cities.

Card. Gibbons Sits Up Again Today

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 10.—Cardinal Gibbons' condition was so favorable today that he was permitted to sit up again. Yesterday he spent about two hours propped up with pillows in a wheel chair. Reports based upon the most accurate observations tell us of the distressing conditions existing in every part of the land. Many thousands are facing the danger of starvation; scores of thousands are in dire need. The cruel winter is upon them and we must come to their rescue. Conference Broken Off LONDON, Jan. 9.—Conferences between the Rev. Michael O'Flanagan, acting president of the Sinn Fein and Premier Lloyd George with a view to bringing about peace in Ireland, have been broken off and will not be resumed, says the Daily Mail. Before Father O'Flanagan returned to Ireland on Friday night he had a long conversation with the premier, and the outcome is said to be described in official quarters as "not as satisfactory as could be hoped." Peace negotiations have not altogether broken down, the newspaper adds, but Father O'Flanagan will not be a party to further exchanges. Decides a Candidate DUBLIN, Jan. 10.—The first candidate publicly to offer himself for election to the Southern Irish parliament is Lord Deedes, who has written a letter for publication in the Irish newspapers, in which he admits that the home rule act is far from perfect but says "it represents a gift of self-government which is ours for the asking." Lord Deedes married Vivian Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould of Lakewood, N. J. Early last year reports were in circulation that Lord Deedes might become lord lieutenant of Ireland. He is a representative peer of Ireland and sits in the house of lords. Arrest Sinn Fein M.P. THIRTY-SIX MEN TAKEN IN RAID ARE FINED

Thirty-six men were arrested in a gambling raid in Market street early Sunday morning and fined $5 each in police court today. They were charged with being present where gaming implements were found.

Officers Conroy, Moore, P. Clark, Winn, Corvett, Linton, Conway, Barry and Riley raided a house in Market street shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday morning and took the 36 men without any trouble. All exits were guarded before they entered. Three trips back and forth to the police station were required before all the men were booked and released on bail. The police found a loaded revolver in a corner of the room where it had been dropped by one of the defendants.

Considerable difficulty was met in the settling of fines, the men at first refusing to pay and desiring to appeal. After considerable wrangling they were impressed with the fact that they would be locked up unless they paid or furnished surety on an appeal.

Several of them were locked in the cage and when they found that their next destination was a cell in the prisoners' ward they came across with their fines. The court warned them that it was their last time that they could get off with a fine and Deputy Supt. Downey recommended the minimum fine of $5.

DESCHANEL ELECTED TO FRENCH SENATE

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Elections to fill one-third of the seats in the French senate were held yesterday. Seven members of Premier Leger's cabinet were among the candidates. Of these Frederic Brunet, minister of finance, and Albert Sarraute, minister of colonies, were elected on the first ballot.

M. L'Hopiteau, minister of justice, and Jules Breton, minister of hygiene and health, were elected on the second ballot, while the election of M. Landry, minister of marine; M. Honnorat, minister of public instruction, and Henri Ricard, minister of agriculture, were still in doubt early this evening. M. Ricard ran near behind in the first round.

Prominent among the other candidates was Paul Deschanel, ex-president of the republic, who declared his retirement from political life some time ago because of ill-health. M. Deschanel barely escaped defeat yesterday, being elected by a major of only two votes on the first ballot.

PLAN HOUSECLEANING IN BASEBALL

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—The completion of one of the most thorough housecleanings baseball has ever had, is contemplated by club owners in the meetings scheduled here this week. To reorganize the national agreement and the pact between the major leagues.

Besides the new understanding between the magnates a new deal for the players is in under consideration. President John Heydler of the National league said today, as part of the general reconstruction resulting from last fall's scandal disclosures.

"There are many things that need to be changed," he said, "so that they will fit in with the general ethics of the new arrangement between the major leagues and the minor leagues which is to be presented to the latter. It is likely that a new form of players' contract will be drawn up, one that shall embody the new principles of baseball. Players, magnates, league officials, and everybody connected with the handling of the game must be in accord with the ethical side of the next agreement. It may be that a new set of rules will be drawn up for conducting the world's series in the future, as well as the distribution of the money from the series and from other post-season games. The idea of permitting the umpires in the big series to receive a percentage of the receipts instead of a stated sum, may come up for discussion. It is possible the new national commission, or rather the new government body, may need a larger portion of the receipts than the former 10 per cent, because under the new conditions it may cost more to run the game."

BILLERICA MAN'S LICENSE REVOKED

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 10.—The license of Charles E. Pettis of 12 Wilson street, North Billerica, permitting him to operate automobiles in this state, has been revoked by the commissioner of motor vehicles, as a result of the accident in which he was involved Oct. 8, and which resulted in the death of Francis Murphy of Lowell.

Registrar Goodwin has conducted a thorough investigation of all the circumstances leading up to the accident, and has decided that he cannot make a finding that it occurred without serious fault on the part of the operator of the car. For that reason he is obliged, under the law, to revoke the license.

This is the largest decrease reported in any month since the reaction began in August last, and results in the smallest total since November, 1919, when it was 7,128,230.

STREETS FOR COASTING

Mayor Thompson announced this morning that he would take up with the superintendent of police, tomorrow, the matter of setting aside certain streets in the city on which coasting would be allowed and where the coasters would receive special protection. It is expected that the conference will result in the naming of many streets on which coasters may have free run during the winter and the naming of others on which coasting will not be allowed. The plan is similar to some ways in the life fostered by the clearing of coasters in the summer of playgrounds privileges in certain streets.

About 3 o'clock last night a woman who resides on Pleasant street was accosted by a young man at the corner of High and Anthony streets. He demanded $2 and at first was very insistent and held in his manner. But when the woman shook and cried for help, he ran back to his heels and ran away. She is now in possession of $25.00. He was innocent, he declared. Judge Fay told the prisoner that his trial had been a fair one and that the ability of his counsel had made it possible for the jury to find guilt in the second degree of murder instead of the first.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Defendant in Assault and Robbery Case Held in $1000—Other Cases

In police court today John Murray, alias Thomas P. Murray, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assaulting James Pappademetropoulos and robbing him of $200 in a doorway off Broadway on December 20. He was ordered to recognize in the sum of $1000 for appearance for trial on Jan. 15.

Murray was located in Boston on a warrant through the efforts of Lieut. David Petrie who has been working on the case. Another young man arrested shortly after the assault was committed, is now awaiting trial under the same charge under the name of...

Held for Grand Larceny
In a case, charging larceny of various articles of women's clothing taken from the room of William Kelly in a lodging house in Middlesex st., Ralph Capotosto and Salvatore De Marco pleaded not guilty before Judge Enright in court this morning. Capotosto was found not guilty and discharged while in the cases of the other two the court ordered them under $200 bonds each for the grand jury.

The loss of the goods was discovered by the mistress of the lodging house on Dec. 5 when she found the Kelly woman's room ransacked when she was visiting relatives in Waltham. The goods were found and the three men arrested on a warrant Saturday night by Lieut. Petrie in Capotosto's night in Beach st.

De Marco and O'Gudagno were roomers in the same house with the complainant. When times became hard, and there was no work and they were "flat," according to O'Gudagno, he and De Marco entered the Kelly woman's room and took the clothes with the intention of selling them in Lawrence. Up to this morning all three denied their guilt, but O'Gudagno broke down and confessed and the other two pleaded not guilty and with Capotosto had hired counsel.

O'Gudagno said De Marco produced the key to enter the room and that they both ransacked it, taking what clothes they desired. He declared that Capotosto had no knowledge of the act and did not even know the goods were in his house. Without knowledge of the crime, Capotosto, according to the testimony, had agreed to furnish lodging to his two friends who brought with them dress suit case containing the stolen goods.

Other Offenders
Edward Ducharme was found guilty of creating a disturbance in a local moving picture house yesterday afternoon and had his case placed on file on payment of costs of court.

The trouble started, it seems, in the gallery just at a very interesting and stirring point in the picture and threw the audience into great disorder.

James B. Regan of Boston, charged with the larceny of an overcoat valued at $25 from an unknown person, pleaded not guilty and was put over until tomorrow morning, under bonds of $200.

Because Peter Kostakos, complainant in an assault and battery case, withdrew his complaint and refused to prosecute, Theodosios Menasmaris was ordered discharged. The latter was charged with beating up Kostakos on January 7.

Antonio Russo, who was arraigned Saturday, charged with threatening to do bodily injury to his wife, and found guilty, was given continuance for one month. He promised to use more consideration in the future and agreed to live with his wife.

Of three cases of drunkenness called on, one was placed on file, and the others were disposed of through the probationary system.

Two forfeitures of liquor seized recently by the police of Braintree were ordered. The owners of the liquor were found guilty in the local court and paid fines.

The Sun publishes herewith, exclusively, the first photograph to reveal the United States showing the rescue of the three U. S. navy balloonists who were lost for days in the frozen wilderness of northern Canada.

This picture shows the arrival of the half famished Americans at Moose Factory, a trading post, where they were met by J. L. Gaudet of the Hudson Bay company. Left to right are: Gaudet, Lieut. L. A. Kline (commander of the balloon), Lieut. Walter Hinton

For four days they wandered, half frozen and hungry, through this wild, frozen country, eating caribou moss and finally killing two of their three carrier pigeons for food. Then, with death on

Parade's Feet Frost Bitten
MATTICE, Ont., Jan. 10.—The three American naval balloonists today were still trekking slowly back to civilization from Moose Factory, where they landed on Dec. 14 after a perilous flight from Rockaway, N. Y. Absence of tillars from the balloonists caused no alarm to experienced trappers in this section. They said the Americans and their Indian guides were slowed up considerably by the fact that Lieut. Stephen A. Farrell, the eldest of the trio, had to be carried on a sled, as his feet were badly frost bitten.

The weather today was unusually mild for this season of the year. Some of the more optimistic watchers here believed that the airman would emerge from the wilds before nightfall, but others said it would not be surprising if it took a day or two longer.

According to general calculations by this city's population and the small army of newspapermen and photographers, the long awaited party probably was 40 miles northward when they camped last night.

Fitzpatrick; vice president, Marguerite J. Corcoran; Secretary, Bertha M. Kewin; Treasurer, Anna M. Quinn. Dr. M. L. Mahoney gave a very interesting talk on Deskin-Carell method.

They were arrested before Judge Enright in his office this morning, and put over for trial on next Friday under bonds of $200 each. It is understood that one of the boys after being questioned admitted his part in the affair. Patrolmen Kilroy and Maroney made the arrests.
